A BIG CONTRACT.—Oakes Ames, of North Easton, Massachusetts, has contracted to build nearly the whole of the remaining portion of the Union Pacific Railroad—some six hundred miles, passing through the Rocky Mountain region—receiving therefor over forty-seven millions of dollars.

By a late patent, a species of nettle, which grows luxuriantly and spontaneously throughout the Mississippi valley, is employed in the manufacture of cord, rope, cloth, bagging and paper. The stalks, which grow from four to eight feet high, are gathered in the winter, and are ready for the brake without any rotting process. The fibre is said to be exceedingly fine, strong and susceptible of a high finish by dressing.

ÆRIAL STEEPLE CHASE.—On Saturday, the 1st of September, a great ærial steeple chase was to have taken place in Paris—the balloons to start from the Esplanade of the Invalides. The race was arranged by the administration of that monster balloon, "The Giant." It was open to balloons of all nations, and those who chose to compete were to be supplied with gas gratis, and would also receive all the necessary facilities and assistance for the ascent.

OF yellow fever in New Orleans two hundred and fifteen deaths are recorded in August, only four of whom were natives of Louisiana, and but forty-six native born Americans. Seventy-six were Germans, thirty-five French and twenty Irish. It appears also that most of the deaths were of persons who neglected the earlier steps of the disease and were in destitute circumstances. Physicians declare that the prevailing type of the disease is unusually mild and yields readily to timely and proper treatment.

TRADE in New York and other Eastern cities is becoming quite satisfactory. Says a New York letter: "A noteworthy feature of this season's business, so far, is the entire absence of speculative feeling, and the transactions of trade on safe principles. The importations of foreign dress goods are not so heavy as of late years at this season, yet the supply is equal to the demand. Some low priced fabrics exhibit a yielding tendency. The North and West are buying freely, and to a greater extent than usual, on short credit or for cash."

THE NEW ERA.—A correspondent writes to a New Orleans paper: It comes hard for a young man to walk behind a plough who once rode behind a fast trotter; nor is it agreeable to a young lady to make and put on her dresses all by herself who formerly had a couple of servants to take these irksome jobs off her hands. Yet there are many who think, and I am one of them, that in the long run it will be all the better for the rising generation of the South—a generation which is to follow one notoriously brought up in ignorance of work and indolence as to any useful occupation.

ON the Howland will trial in Boston, Professors Agassiz, Horsford and Pierce were introduced on one or the other side, as was also Dr. Jackson, the chemist,—all but the first on the side of the defendants, and corroborative of the supposition of forgery. Prof. Pierce, testimony relates mainly to the docrine of chances. He said that such circumstances as must be admitted if all these signatures of Miss Howland were genuine, could occur only once in two thousand six hundred and sixty-six millions of millions of millions of times—or practically was utterly impossible.

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

The Border State Convention met in Baltimore yesterday, Hon. J. A. J. Cresswell in the Chair.

The United States Court for the Kanawha District, which was to have convened at Charleston, West Virginia, on the 19th inst., will not meet until the 20th of November.

The revenue cutter Mahoning, which sailed from Boston for Potland last week, contained the person of Hon. Roscoe Conkling, and Representatives Allison, of Iowa, and Samuel Hooper. Senator Fessenden was to join the party at Portland, and a ten days' cruise to the British provinces was intended.

The returns from one hundred and forty-seven towns of Maine, about three-fifths of the State, foot up as follows: Chamberlain, 33,822; Pillsbury, 24,998. Same towns last year gave Chamberlain 43,321, and Pillsbury 23,833, showing a loss from the Republican majority of last year of 10,664. The remaining towns will probably reduce last year's majority about 17,000, leaving a majority for Chamberlain of from 10,000 to 12,000.

One day last month a little girl named Annie E. Richards called Mary and Margaret Jones, two neighbors, living in Philadelphia, "old maids." Shortly after, Annie was handed a lovely peach, which she ate, and in five hours she was dead. The peach contained seventy grains of strychnine. The two Joneses were arrested, and were yesterday committed on the charge of murder in the first degree. The girls are quite handsome.

Colonel George K. Childs, a Mexican war officer, and prominent Mason, fireman and politician, died in Philadelphia, yesterday, aged sixty-six years.

The New York Herald says: Developments of the Internal Revenue frauds at Brooklyn are taking a tangible shape, and are so wide in their ramifications, it is said, as even to implicate certain members of the Washington Cabinet, whose indentity is at present concealed. The proceedings in the Revenue Board over the alleged frauds is said to have been somewhat stormy, some of the members offering to resign on account of them, and Mr. Rollins's presence here at one time was in furtherance of an investigation of the subject. J. C. Allen, keeper of a ware house on Sedgwick street, where alleged frauds are said to have been committed, was arrested yesterday and held in $20,000 bail, on a charge of complicity in the illegal removal of twenty thousand gallons of whisky. Mr. Callicott, it is said, has brought to the knowledge of the Washington officials some very ugly matters relative to the doings of his prosecutors. Mr. J. C. Thompson, keeper of a bonded warehouse at Nos. 24 and 26 Sedgwick street, Brooklyn, was arrested and taken before Commissioner Newton of the United States Court on a charge of being implicated in the removal of twenty thousand gallons of whisky, which had been placed in his charge. He was held to bail in the sum of $20,000.

WESTERN NEWS.

The Omaha Republican says the population of Cheyenne City is now fifteen hundred, and and among them there is not a gambler or a woman of doubtful reputation. The city is under control of the military, Gen. Stevenson commanding, and he takes especial pains to ascertain any arrivals of these classes of people, and immediately puts in operation the most prompt measures to rid the place of their presence. Fort David Russell will have twelve companies of soldiers in its barracks this winter. In addition to these there will be five or six hundred Government employees in the various departments.

Last spring the people of Kansas received Lucy Stone with rough but kindly gallantry, and she was listened to by audiences whose good deportment led her to believe they were convinced. Therefore the voice of rejoicing was sounded that Kansas would "lead the world." Now, however, with the nearer approach of election, the whole army of female screechers have invaded Kansas to be in at the happy moment, and the question of female suffrage becoming one of seriousness and no longer one of gallantry, it is sent kiting down the wind. There will not be a thousand affirmative votes. Kansas will indeed "lead the world" in being the first State to vote on this foolish proposition, but it will stamp it out of sight. The brevet politicians who are running about on the Plains, verily like hens with their necks twisted, won't be anxious to try another State immediately after Kansas.

A letter from Omaha says: The tons of freight now piled on the levee awaiting transportation to the far West are calculated to impress a stranger favorably with the growth and prospects of Omaha. Nor is this favorable impression lost as he toils up the steep street and enters the city proper, when he beholds the restless, nervous activity visible in it. The stately streets, wide, open, airy, lined by handsome blocks of stores. The crush and whirl of business on Farnham and Douglass streets is tremendous, and can only be compared to the main street of some large city. Four trains empty into Omaha daily, and one and sometimes two or three steamers arrive daily at the wharves, while from the populous settlements in the interior farmers roll in by the score with their farm produce, for which they find immediate buyers. Yet this city is but a branch of Chicago, but under its fostering care Omaha will grow and be a source of immense profit to it. The Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting on the 10th. The yearly report says that, although trade for the past year has not been profitable, it has been large, with an increase in many departments. The membership of the Chamber is reported at 800. Mr. John A. Gano, one of the proprietors of the Daily Commercial, was elected President for the ensuing year.

At a meeting of the Cincinnati Board of Health, the Health Officer stated that the "social evil" of the city are very desirous of a thorough license system. The Board is now engaged in the registration of all the prostitutes in the city.

A battalion of four hundred soldiers arrived at Omaha on Sunday en route to the Plains. Before leaving they entered the American Transfer Company's warehouse, drove out the watchman, stove in the heads of whisky and wine barrels, got very drunk, and broke open canned fruits and oysters. The subordinate officers are said to have been as bad as the men, and the Colonel had no control of them.

NEW LISBON, OHIO.

First Republican Rally of the Campaign—Great Outpouring of the People—Speeches of Generals Sherwood and Gibson.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

NEW LISBON, via Salem, September 12, 1867.

The Republican mass meeting at New Lisbon to-day was the first held in Columbiana county this campaign, and we are willing to accept it as the prophetic revelation of coming events. From every township in the county the people came up in scores and in hundreds, leaving their plows standing in their furrows and their grounds half seeded, to give one day to the promotion of the great principles of human freedom and true Jeffersonian Democratic Government, contained in the Union State platform and Constitutional amendment.

The meeting, made up of thousands, was convened in a beautiful grove in the fair grounds. It was called to order by W. A. Nichols, Esq., who introduced General Sherwood, of Williams county. He spoke for an hour and a quarter in a very effective and convincing manner. He was listened to with the greatest possible attention and satisfaction on the part of the audience. General S. is a good and well informed speaker, and withal very pleasant in his address.

General Gibson came on the stand at the close of the first speech and spoke for an hour and a half, as only Gibson can speak. He has but few equals and no superiors as a political orator, and since the days of Corwin carries the palm, awarded him by popular favor. Much good was done by his speech, and its fine effect will be felt on the eighth of October. He handled reconstruction and the constitutional amendment with a power that carried the people along with him.

Old Columbiana is radical to the back bone, and will give a vote at the next election that will convince the country that its Union men understand and have accepted the issue. The Salem silver band, and the Hanover and Washingtonville bands, discoursed excellent music for the occasion. The procession was the largest formed in Lisbon since the last Presidential election. It was in marked contrast to the copperhead funeral march of a week ago. The shade of a small tree on the park sheltered all that crowd, but to-day it took the wide spread limbs of a grove to cover the Union thousands present. Columbiana will do her duty this fall; mark it. Gen. Gibson speaks at Salem to-night, and Gen. Sherwood at Leetonia.

MEMPHIS.

Habeas Corpus Case Under the Amnesty Proclamation—Correspondence Between Gen. Ord and Col. Gilbert.

MEMPHIS, September 12.—Some weeks since W. A. Miliken, of Lagrange, was arrested by the military for assaulting an ex-Union soldier on a charge of violating his parole, taken to Louisville and since sent back to be tried by court martial. This morning Attorney General Wallace applied to Judge Triggs, of the United States Court, for a writ of habeas corpus on Lieut. W. H. Hugo, commanding the post at Lagrange, for the body of the prisoner, under the recent proclamation. The writ was granted, and placed in the hands of Deputy Marshal Bingham, who leaves this evening to execute it.

Some time since the office of the Eagle, newspaper at Camden, Arkansas, was destroyed by soldiers, led on by Major Pierce. Colonel Gilbert, commander of the post, wrote a letter to Gen. Ord, in which he said the censures of the press were directed against the servants of the people. This may be endured, but General Ord and the military force detailed to enable him to perform his duties, are not the servants of the people of Arkansas, but rather their masters, and it is felt to be a great piece of impertinence for the newspapers in this State to comment upon the military, under any circumstances whatever.

General Ord, in his reply, says: Your letter of the 15th ult., in which you attempt to justify the act of a party of soldiers who, misled by an officer, forcibly entered a citizen's house and destroyed his property, is received. You will please explain why this act was not prevented by you as post commander, and if the requirements of the thirty-third article of war have been complied with. Your assertion that military forces are not the servants of the people of Arkansas, but rather their masters, is unjust both to the people and the military, and unfounded in the laws, and laws are for the benefit of the people. The assumption that a party of soldiers could, at their own option, forcibly destroy a citizen's property and commit a gross violation of the public peace, would not be tolerated under a Napoleon.

OUR STEUBENVILLE LETTER.

The New Water Works Nearly Completed—A Description of Them—The Approaching Republican Meeting—A Daring Youth—Work Resumed at the Rolling Mill—Base Ball.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

STEUBENVILLE, September 12, 1867.

The new Water Works are rapidly approaching completion, and should nothing extraordinary transpire, the trustees expect to have the same running by the middle of October. The old works were erected thirty-two years ago, and at that time were the second works erected in the State, and strange as it may appear, yet nevertheless it is true, in the State of Ohio, the third in the Union, there are but four cities, viz: Cincinnati, Steubenville, Cleveland and Zanesville that have works for supplying the citizens with water at the present time. While I am free to admit that the other cities named above excel us in most respects, in respect to the supply of water and the works we are far ahead of them, because we of this city are confident that we have the best water works between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. We will admit that Cincinnati excels in beauty. They pride themselves in the beauty of their machinery. We do not pride ourselves on its magnificence, but we do on its power and capacity. The building, as it now stands, (the old and new machinery is all under one roof,) is sixty-two by seventy-two feet, and rests on a foundation of "all cut" stone, the front wall of which is forty-two feet deep, and seven feet wide at the bottom, tapering to four feet at the top. The works will be supplied with excellent machinery from the extensive works of Means & Bros., of this city. The engine has a cylinder twenty inches in diameter, with seven feet stroke. The boilers are twenty-four feet long, two inches in diameter, with sixteen inch flues. In the well there is a sixteen inch pump, which has a stroke of seven feet, and a capacity of one thousand gallons per minute, and while Cincinnati has a basin which holds a thirty-six hours' supply for her citizens, we, in this country village, have one that will hold enough to supply the people for four days. As soon as the new works go into operation, the Trustees intend overhauling the old machinery, and placing a pump in the old well of the same dimensions as that in the new one, which will then give us a works with a capacity of one hundred and twenty thousand gallons per hour. In connection with the above, there has been laid from the works to the basin 3,500 feet of fifteen inch pipe, in which there are three hundred and ten joints, which consumed seven tons of lead. The trench was seventeen feet deep at High street, and ascends to a regular grade until it reaches the basin, the lowest place in it being seven feet. The work was all done, trench dug, under the superintendence of the Trustee, the pipes put in, and joints run in the space of forty-four days, the whole being done under the direction of Robert J. Irwin, Esq., the efficient superintendent of the works the past two years. To his energy and skill they are to-day indebted for the privileges they enjoy in regard to water, for he has taken a vast amount of labor to keep the old machinery in running order, and many a night has he worked all night, sacrificing his own health and comforts, rather than let the water be shut off from the city. The old machinery is worn entirely out, and there was no telling at what time it might let down, but he has kept it up so far, and it is to be hoped that he may live to enjoy the fruits of his labors, for as he has had the bitter in the past, he is certainly entitled to enjoy the sweets, and he can certainly do it in a works costing fifty-five thousand dollars.

Tuesday, 17th inst., will be a great day (should the weather be favorable) in Steubenville. From present indications it will be one of the largest meetings that has been held in this section since the days of Tod and Brough. Hon. Columbus Delano and Ex-Gov. Dennison, two of Ohio's most gifted sons, are to address the people on that day. The Democracy threaten us with another "big" meeting soon. I think it would be advisable for them to have one before they attempt another.

A few evenings since while Mr. C. Hineman, of the firm of Hineman & Cummins, was writing up the transactions of the day in the factory, he heard his wife (who had retired and who slept in the front room) calling him. He knew there was something wrong, and seizing his revolver and a light he rushed into the room, demanded an immediate and unconditional surrender on the part of the intruder, who was a mere boy and who utterly refused to give any satisfactory account of himself whatever. Mr. Hineman, under the excitement of the moment, called for some one to go for the police, but at the earnest solicitation of his wife and the extreme youth of the boy, the family concluded to keep a watch over him until morning, which they did. After consultation with friends, and having learned that he had no friends, and not having any disposition to deal harshly with him, Mr. Hineman concluded that for the present he would keep him in the family, and see what kindness would do.

The Jefferson Iron Works, Messrs. Spaulding, Woodward & Co., have resumed operation after having been stopped some six weeks for repairs. The pudlers are at work now at eight dollars and twenty-five cents per ton, a slight reduction. The starting of the mill gives an impetus to trade, as it will give employment to some four hundred hands, who depend upon it for earning a livelihood.

The match game of base ball between the "Muffin Nine" "Daisey Cutters" and "Rockets" was won by the Rockets, the score standing at the end of the fourth inning fifteen to sixteen in favor of the Rockets. The game between the Gazette and Herald office editors and employees comes off on Saturday next. I would send you a list of players, but they have not all been placed in position. The Herald nine will be placed as follows: W. R. Allison pitcher, Col. Beard catcher, M. H. Urquhart short stop, Sullivan first base, Slack second base, Fry third base, Berry left field, Kittman center field, and R. W. Allison right field. The Gazette nine is not complete, but I understood from one of the players yesterday that it would be arranged about the same as the other; viz: Allen pitcher, McMillin, catcher, &c., &c. It will be an exciting game, as there are some very good players in both offices. K. N. P.

FROM CRESSON SPRINGS.

Destruction by Fire of the Old "Jackson Farm House"—Closing of the Season at the Springs.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

MOUNTAIN HOUSE, CRESSON, Sept. 10, 1867.

The old "Jackson Farm House," which stood about a quarter of a mile from the "Mountain House," was completely destroyed by fire this morning at two o'clock. The family who occupied it escaped unhurt, saving nothing, however, but a few articles of clothing and furniture. A library belonging to the late Dr. R. M. S. Jackson, valued at about ten thousand dollars, is lost. Many of your readers will remember the house well, as it was kept open as a tavern during the days of stage coaching between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The season here is nearly over, the "Mountain House" closing on Monday, September 16th.

MR. DICKENS ON AMERICA.—In a recent conversation Mr. Charles Dickens is reported to have said: "In common with all Englishmen, I confess my admiration of the enterprise, courage and growing sense of justice of the Americans. In politics I have always been a liberal. I never said a word for slaveholders nor uttered a wish against the lawful cause in your war. As to being treated with anything but civility on my next visit to America, that is absurd. The day of Macready riots is over there. If I thought a dog would bark at me I would not touch the shore. But a nation is still not quite perfect in the spirit of the century that would cast a doubt in a literary man's mind of his safety in it. To ask us to surrender opinion because we visit you—this is the bigotry of a village."

A GREAT misfortune has fallen upon Venice and the artistic world of Italy. The famous chapel of the Madonna del Rosario, adjacent to the Church of San Giovanni el Paolo, has been destroyed by fire. Titian's celebrated picture of the "Martyrdom of St. Peter," with, perhaps, the finest landscape in the world for a background, the Madonna of Giambellino, and other works of very considerable note, were consumed by the flames. These celebrated pictures were temporarily placed in the chapel while the church was undergoing repairs. There were, beside, the celebrated wood carvings by Brustelone and his pupils, unrivaled for taste and delicacy. A series of beautiful bas-reliefs, bronze statues and statuettes of exquisite workmanship, of incalculable value, have also been destroyed.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—An official circular from the ordnance office at Washington, reports the recent occurrence of a well authenticated case of spontaneous combustion at Watervliet Arsenal, New York. The combustion resulted from the spreading of sawdust, instead of sand, as was ordered, on some linseed oil which had leaked from a barrel. The sawdust thus mixed with oil ignited spontaneously in twelve hours in a cellar where it had been placed in a box. The temperature of the cellar was thirty-six degrees, indicating that a low temperature will cause spontaneous combustion in a mixture of sawdust and linseed oil.

Miss Richings with her English Opera Company opens in Washington at the National next Monday with the "Bohemian Girl." Mr. Bernard is her tenor. Miss Marie Abbott also appears on Tuesday as soprano.

The publication of the Meadville Republican was suspended on Wednesday, on account of the firemen's parade, the employees in the office belonging to the fire department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 12, 1867.

Trouble in Maryland Apprehended.

The President has received intimations of trouble at the Maryland election on the 18th instant, when the new State Constitution is to be submitted for ratification, and ex-Governor Pratt, of that State, has been here to-day in conference with the Executive. It is believed that the stories are greatly exaggerated, and that the State officials will be ample to preserve the peace. In no event will the Government interfere unless the Governor of Maryland calls upon the President in the legal way.

Pennsylvania Democrats Visit the President.

A delegation of Pennsylvania Democrats, headed by ex-Gov. Packer and the Chairman of the Democratic Committee, arrived here to-day, and had an interview with the President on political matters.

The Case of Fitz John Porter.

General Fitz John Porter, who was dismissed the service in 1862, had an interview with the President to-day, and presented an appeal for a new investigation of his case, on the ground that new and important evidence favorable to him had been discovered. His application was indorsed by Senators Wilson, Foster, Sherman and Harris, Gen. Banks, Horace Greeley and Ex-Gov. Curtin. The following is Senator Wilson's letter:

NATICK, November 26, 1866.

To President Johnson:

SIR—I have been informed that new evidence has been discovered touching the case of Fitz John Porter, late a Major General in the Volunteer forces of the United States. I cheerfully join with others in recommending the appointment of a Commission, to consist of officers of acknowledged capacity and character, to examine this evidence, and ascertain whether injustice has been done this officer or not, who up to the time of the alleged offense maintained the character of an officer of courage and ability.

Your obedient servant,

[Signed.] HENRY WILSON.

JANUARY 17, 1867.

Major General Fitz John Porter was the first military officer sent by the Government to Harrisburg, at the beginning of the rebellion, and of the many who succeeded him none of them were more zealous, faithful and useful. I gave him my full confidence, and from the high opinion I then formed of him was surprised when his loyalty was doubted. Believing that subsequent events and evidence not produced at his trial fully justify a new trial, I very cordially and earnestly unite with Senator Wilson and the other distinguished gentlemen who concur with him in the within paper, in asking for General Porter the appointment of a new Commission to hear his case, that justice may be done. [Signed.] A. G. CURTIN.

I think with General Wilson that a careful review by a competent military commission of the proceedings of the case of General Porter is an act of justice, and which in trials before civil courts is always granted as a matter of right. I trust his request will be granted.

[Signed] JOHN SHERMAN.

I cheerfully unite with General Wilson in the within recommendation.

[Signed] IRA HARRIS.

SENATE CHAMBER, Jan. 16, 1867.

I concur. [Signed] HORACE GREELEY.

I cheerfully concur in the opinions above expressed.

[Signed] L. F. S. FOSTER,

January 17th, 1867.

I concur most cordially in the recommendations of Senators Wilson, Sherman, Harris and Foster, and express unreservedly my belief that a re-examination of this case is due to General Porter and to the Government.

[Signed] N. P. BANKS.

House of Representatives, January 17th, 1867.

General Porter had an interview to-day with General Grant. The President to-night decided to grant Gen. Porter a court in accordance with his appeal.

Retrenchment in the War Department.

Gen. Grant is daily inaugurating retrenchment. The expenses of the War Department in this city have been reduced one-third since he took hold. To-day by order of the Secretary of War, orders were sent to recruiting and other disbursing officers to make reports weekly of the amount of public funds in their custody, and where such funds are deposited, to make such reports by mail and not by telegraph. The use of the telegraph will be reduced and letters sent by mail instead of dispatches by telegraph as much as possible.

Retired from Service.

Brevet Maj. Gen. Eli Long, Captain Fourth United States Cavalry, having at his own request been ordered before a board of examination, and having been found by the board physically incompetent to discharge the duties of his office on account of wounds received in battle, and the finding having been approved by the President, his name will be placed upon the list of retired officers of that class in which the disability results from long and faithful service or some injury incident thereto. By direction of the President he is retired with the full rank of Major General.

Instructions of Heads of Departments.

The instructions of Postmaster General Randall to the various employees of the Postoffice Department, calling their attention to the recent proclamation of the President, in accordance with the order of the President directing heads of Departments to furnish employees with a copy of the proclamation, will be issued in a day or two. The instructions of General Randall, with a copy of the proclamation attached, are now being put in type. Over thirty thousand copies are required in order to supply all employees of the Department. The instructions of Secretary Browning will also be issued shortly. All of the other Cabinet Ministers have issued theirs.

To be Reinstated.

A number of ex-army officers, who have been heretofore dismissed the service, are here presenting such facts to General Grant as will insure the reinstatement of many of them, and then their honorable discharge from the army.

Revenue Agent at Galveston.

George H. Parker, of Davenport, Iowa, has been appointed Revenue Agent in place of General Commager, of Ohio, who recently died at Galveston, Texas.

WASHINGTON, September 12, 1867.

SUFFERING AT PENSACOLA.

The Navy Department has received a report from Capt. James F. Armstrong, commanding Pensacola Navy Yard, dated the 6th inst. He fears, on account of the prevalence of the yellow fever, that a partial suspension of work in the Navy Yard will add to the distress and suffering already existing in the villages at the Yard, yet with heads of department and many clerks dead, and no responsible person to oversee the employees, it would be decidedly a loss to the Government to go on with the work. The Mayor had appealed to the neighboring cities for aid in physicians, nurses and money, to which they nobly responded, Mobile sending $1,000. A hospital was established with the funds received. From the 8th to the 28th of August there were 222 cases of fever and 28 deaths. Since then there is no record. Citizens on naval reserve are raising money by subscription to employ physicians and nurses and obtain medicines and food for the destitute. Captain Armstrong has given them the use of a building in the possession of the Government for a hospital for the treatment of the sick, and they hope to obtain additional aid from the same source; as citizens of Pensacola they can obtain no aid from the Freedmen's Bureau, although many of the poor whites and freedmen are residing on the reserve. There have been twenty-one deaths outside and fifteen in the yards. Many cases now exist, and new ones are appearing, and there are no physicians outside the yard to attend the sick, but it is hoped the Commissioner will soon obtain them.

CIRCULAR TO DISBURSING OFFICERS.

A circular was issued this morning from the War Department, stating that orders had been sent to recruiting and other disbursing officers to make weekly reports of the amount of public funds in their custody, and where such funds were deposited. The reports will be made by mail. The use of the telegraph will be reduced, and by telegraph as much as possible.

NO CHANGE IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The President to-day denied emphatically that he contemplated any change in the head of the Treasury.

THE WAR OFFICE.

There is authority for saying that General Banks, while here, urged General Grant to retain the war office, even if the President attempted to remove him and appoint another to the place.

DEDICATION OF ANTIETAM CEMETERY.

There will probably be a general attendance of the diplomatic corps at Antietam next week. The prospect is that several Cabinet officers will accompany the President.

DISTRIBUTION OF AMNESTY PROCLAMATION.

Orders were issued to-day from all the Executive Departments, distributing the Amnesty Proclamation to all officials.

GEN. LEE IN VIRGINIA.

The report that Gen. Robert E. Lee passed through Washington a day or two since on his way North is without foundation. He left Virginia Springs, Friday, for Lexington.

Washington Topics and Gossip.

THE NULLIFICATION PROCLAMATION.

Gen. Butler and Mr. Johnson called on Gen. Grant yesterday. The latter thinks the President has indirectly nullified the laws of Congress by the recent proclamation, and believes that impeachment is inevitable. The President thinks he is right, and says that the whole matter will shortly be brought before the Supreme Court. That Court will define the exact Constitutional powers of the President, and if its decision sustains Johnson he will declare certain acts of Congress null and void, and abide a revolution rather than submit to the rulings of the Radical majority in our national legislature.

JOHNSON SHOWING SIGNS OF WEAKNESS.

The unreconstructed rebels say Johnson is showing signs of weakness; that he hesitates in carrying out his position to its logical conclusion, and refers the disfranchised to the Courts to assert their rights. This is a cause of great dissatisfaction, and the President's impulsive action is sharply criticized by the very men who have been most vigorously engaged in urging him on. They say that to refer them to the Courts is to let radical military reconstruction have full sway.

THE BROOKLYN NATIONAL BANK.

A deputation of officers and directors of the Farmers and Citizens' National Bank of Brooklyn, consisting of Orrin M. Beach, President, Smith Sheldon, S. Board and others, are here endeavoring to restore the bank to its managers on the ground that it is a public benefit, and they offer as directors to guarantee indebtedness to bank certain sums amounting to over $300,000 if the request is complied with. There is great doubt as to whether the Comptroller has power under the law to suspend the proceedings after they are once begun, and the application of these parties has been suspended, pending a legal opinion on this point.

GEN. GRANT COMMENDS GEN. SICKLES'S ACTS.

It has been repeatedly stated that the dispatch dated August 13, from Gen. Grant to Gen. Sickles, which was printed Saturday last, completed the correspondence. This is not the case. There are one or two other brief dispatches, and a letter from Gen. Grant to Gen. Sickles, dated August 24th, which being understood by the latter to be private, he has not published, although Grant intended his authorization to cover everything. In this letter Gen. Grant commends the wisdom of Gen. Sickles's acts.

FITZ JOHN PORTER.

General Fitz John Porter is here seeking a reopening of his case. He is the bearer of letters to the Speaker of the House, Henry Wilson, John Sherman, Ira Harris, Horace Greeley, L. J. S. Foster, N. P. Banks, Governor Curtin, Edward Everett, R. C. Winthrop, Amos Lawrence, Judge Curtis, and others of like distinction, urging a reopening of the case upon evidence which peace has developed, and which it was not possible to obtain during the war.

THE PRESIDENT WILL KEEP QUIET.

The Tribune's special says: The President will keep quiet now until after the fall elections. No cabinet changes will take place till after the Pennsylvania, Ohio, and New York elections. It is probable that the President will suggest to the District Commanders that elections at the South should all take place on the same day.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Further correspondence relative to the Alabama claims upon Great Britain is made public. August 18, 1866.—Secretary Seward sends to Minister Adams a summary of claims of citizens of the United States for damages from privateers fitted out from British ports, and requests that Lord Stanley may be informed that the settlement of these claims has become urgently necessary to the re-establishment of entirely friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain. The hostile course of the latter country during rebellion is contrasted with the action of the United States Government toward the Fenian invasion of Canada in the following words: "Thus we have numerous British warlike expeditions against the United States practically allowed and tolerated by Her Majesty's Government, notwithstanding remonstrance, and we have seen similar unlawful attempts in this country against Great Britain disallowed and defeated by the direct and unprompted action of the Government of the United States."

BALTIMORE.

The Border State Convention—Permanent Organization—Letter from Senator Sumner—Resolutions.

BALTIMORE, September 12.—The Border State Republican Convention assembled at the Front street Theater, to-day. Delegates are present from Delaware, Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky, District of Columbia, and Maryland. There was no distinction of race or color. A temporary organization was effected, Hon. Lewis Thompson, of Delaware, was in the chair.

A Committee on resolutions was appointed, consisting of Hon. J. A. J. Creswell, of Maryland; Hon. R. R. Butler, of Tennessee; Hon. R. T. Van Horn, of Missouri; J. J. Stewart, of Maryland; H. M. Jenkins, of Delaware; R. Stockett Matthews, of Maryland; David Gosborn, of West Virginia; W. H. G. Brown, Maryland; Anthony Higgins, of Delaware.

The following permanent officers were elected: President, Hon. Horace Maynard; Vice Presidents, Hon. R. T. Van Horn, Missouri; Col. J. H. Clendenning, Missouri; Hon. R. R. Butler, Tennessee; Rev. Daniel Watkins, Tennessee; Hon. J. A. J. Cresswell, Maryland; Geo. A. Cook, Maryland; Harman Robinson, Delaware; Robert H. Cunnnens, Delaware; Saml. Segar, Delaware; David Gosborn, West Virginia; Mr. Gallaher, West Virginia; R. T. Johnson, District of Columbia; A. P. Clark, District of Columbia.

Speeches were made by Messrs. Maynard, Cresswell and others. Letters were read from white and colored distinguished politicians, among them one from Senator Sumner, in which, after stating his inability to be present, he says: Congress will leave undone what it ought to do if it fails to provide promptly for the establishment of equal rights, whether political or civil, everywhere throughout the Union. This is a solemn duty which cannot be shirked or postponed. The idea is intolerable that we may, under any pretension of State rights, set up a political oligarchy within its borders, and then call itself a republican government. I believe with all my soul that such a government must be rejected as inconsistent with the requirements of the declaration of independence. Fraternally yours, [Signed] CHAS. SUMNER.

Resolutions were adopted that it is the duty of Congress to protect equal voting rights of all loyal American citizens, without regard to complexion, and guarantee a republican form of government to all the States; urging Congress to bravely and thoroughly adopt the measures required for the establishment of peace and prosperity throughout the land, and suggesting the presentation to the States for adoption of a constitutional amendment providing that no State shall disfranchise any citizens because of race or color; also approve the reconstruction measures of Congress; call for the reinstatement of Stanton: applaud the military services, prudence and firmness of Grant, and express the belief that the President should be impeached and removed.

A mass meeting subsequently held indorsed the action of the Convention.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Proposed Boat Race Between Hamill and Meyer—Hamill Pays Forfeit.

PHILADELPHIA, September 12.—The proposed boat race at Bridesburg to-day did not occur. Hamill's boat was discovered to be so much unlike Meyer's that Hamill did not think he ought to take part in the race, and therefore paid forfeit.

From Charleston.

CHARLESTON, September 12.—Governor Orr has pardoned a freedman named Chisholm, convicted of murdering his step-daughter, on condition he leaves the State for five years.

In the case of John Jenkins, a freedman convicted of the murder of young Brantford, during June, 1866, and three times respited by Gen. Sickles, a notification has been served on the Sheriff by Gen. Canby, stating that he has fully examined the case, and there will be no further interference by the military.

The heavy rains which have just ceased, had a disastrous effect on cotton in many districts. The reported yield will be lessened a third to a half.

Estimates of the Cotton Crops.

CHARLESTON, September 12.—The estimates prepared here of the total cotton crops foot up 1,970,000 bales.

GRANT.

The Presidency and Politics.

Grant Would Not be President.

He is Satisfied With His Position.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The Post's Washington letter says: An officer of General Grant's staff relates a conversation he had with the General, a few days ago, wherein the General remarked concerning the talk of making him President, that he would not be President of the United States if the opportunity were offered; that he was no politician; that he hated politics; that so far as reputation and honor were concerned, he thought he ought to be satisfied with what of these he already enjoyed; that holding the office of President would mar his present comfort, and drag him into the storms and excitement of politics; that as the General of the army he had all the work he could do, and time enough to enjoy the comforts of his family and home, and that he, as a soldier, had gained friends enough in the country without now seeking a place where he should gain no more, but probably lose those whom he had gained.

KENTUCKY.

Lieut. Gov. Stevenson Inaugurated as Governor—His Address.

LOUISVILLE, Septbemer 12.—Lieutenant Governor Stevenson was to-day inaugurated Governor of Kentucky, vice John L. Helm, deceased. The ceremonies took place in the Senate Chamber at Frankfort. After prayer by Rev. Bishop Smith, of the Episcopal Church, Hon. A. J. Smith, Mayor of Frankfort, on the part of the citizens, made an address of welcome to the Governor.

The inaugural was then read. After referring in eloquent terms to the political career of the late Gov. Helm, Acting Gov. Stevenson proceeded as follows:

I cordially approve and fully indorse every principle enumerated in the admirable address of the lamented Helm, and will by God's blessing earnestly endeavor to maintain them during my administration of the Government. The oath which I am about in your presence to take exacts of me strict obedience to the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Kentucky. Both Constitutions were ordained to perpetuate the rights of civil liberty and free representative Government. The promises of both were intended to preserve and uphold as fundamental guaranties of freedom, the liberty of speech, the freedom of the press, the rights of conscience, of property, of person, and of reputation, the purity of election and the implicit obedience of the representative to the will of his constituents. Justly and fairly construed according to their letter and spirit, collisions between the Federal and State Governments are utterly impossible. They can never occur so long as each government restrains itself within the respective orbits prescribed by the framers of each. It is only when one government overleaps the barriers erected for its restraint that danger can arise.

To all the demands and exactions of the Federal Government within the sphere of its constitutional power, Kentucky will always lend a ready support and cheerful obedience. While within the limits of the commonwealth her reserved rights must be respected and will, while I act as her Chief Magistrate, always be upheld, my anxious care shall always be to uphold, protect and defend the constitution of the State from assault from without or danger from within, and to see that the laws are faithfully executed and obeyed.

My earnest desire shall ever be to advance the welfare and happiness of every member of the Commonwealth, irrespective of party creed. In this spirit I shall look to all good citizens for their succor, and invoking the blessing of Almighty God, the sure prop of all who put their trust in him, for the honor, peace and prosperity of Kentucky.

The oath of office as acting Governor, was then administered by Hon. B. J. Peters, Chief Justice. The entire ceremonies were conducted in the utmost good order. There was neither parade nor music.

WILKESBARRE.

Hon. W. W. Ketchum the Republican Nominee for Congress.

WILKESBARRE, PA., September 12.—Hon. W. W. Ketchum was nominated for Congress to-day by the Republican County Convention, to fill the unexpired term of Charles Dennison, deceased.

Yellow Fever Abating in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, September 13.—There were six deaths from yellow fever during the twenty-four hours ending this morning.

DR. ACEE has a tea plantation near Bellevue, Talbot County, Ga., which is in a very flourishing condition. The seeds were imported from China to the Patent Office of the United States, about seven years ago. Dr. Acee placed them in a box prepared with virgin soil or chip manure until they germinated, and then transplanted them as they sprouted to his garden of select fruit trees and vineyard. They there, to the number of forty shrubs, are now flourishing in everlasting green, and full of vitality, notwithstanding their exposure to summer's heat and winter's cold—the storm and the sunshine. The shrubs are now about seven feet high. The foliage is very dense, and what is singular, if not peculiar, the shrub seems to improve and grow more green by stripping its leaves. It presents at the same time bare twigs and tender and full grown leaves. The seeds in size and color resemble a hazelnut, and three are contained in each capsule. The flower is white and scentless.

IN a translation from Honore de Balzac we find the following: "When you think it to your interest to discover a woman's eye, scrutinize respectfully her temples and the end of her nose! Whatever women may effect with their cosmetiques, there is not wax and perfumery enough in Paris to corrupt such witnesses, as the marks imprinted by experience and excitement on the temples and the end of the nose. There each of her years has left its stigma. When the temples of a woman are attenuated, faded and furrowed, when at the end of the nose you see certain little points that resemble the almost imperceptible black particles that are rained by the chimneys of London, the woman has passed thirty years. She may be beautiful, she may be spiritual, she may be animated, she may be anything you desire—but she has passed thirty years; she has reached her maturity."

A NEW YORK letter says: The mysterious allusions in the morning papers to the arrest of an Internal Revenue Collector have reference to Collector Callicott, of Brooklyn. The gentleman is now in Washington, but it is given out to-day, at the Revenue Board, that a warrant has been issued for his apprehension. His deputy, John Allen, was taken into custody on Saturday, and was permitted to go on parole till this morning. A warrant is out also for an officer named Cubert, associated with Allen. Cubert is in Washington along with the chief, Callicott, and the warrant will be served upon him as soon as he returns.

CITY MATTERS.

OUR NATIONAL GAME.—Interesting accounts of a number of base ball matches will be found on the third page to-day.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Charles A. Dickey and family, of Allegheny City, who have been on a visit to Europe for a few months past, were to sail from Liverpool, for Boston on the 31st of August.

HARRY ALDEN.—The genial and popular Harry Alden, we observe, has returned to his old quarters at the Opera House Saloon, (formerly the Revere House,) where his host of friends will hereafter find him. Mr. Alden has always been a favorite here, and we are right glad to see his smiling countenance again in an "old familiar spot."

BOLD HOUSE ROBBERY.—On Tuesday night two burglars entered the residence of Mr. Grim, carriage maker, located on the Greensburg pike, near the toll gate, in Lawrenceville. Mr. Grim was alone in the house, and one of the robbers held a revolver to that gentleman's head, while the other ransacked the house and collected such property as was available, after which the two departed. The thieves are not known and no trace of them has been found.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—A man named Patrick Brannan, residing at Snyder's Hollow, in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, while passing over the West Common on Wednesday night, was attacked by a man, who knocked him down with some blunt instrument and then robbed him of his pocket-book containing sixteen dollars. A man giving his name as Charles Douglas, hailing from Baltimore, and who has been here but a short time, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Captain Bowden and officer Scott, of the Allegheny police, on a charge of being the robber. He is in the lock-up awaiting a hearing.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.—The Young Men's Christian Association, of this city, and a large number of ministers of the different Evangelical denominations in this vicinity, have issued a call to all the churches in Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, requesting them to send delegates, consisting of the pastor and two or three laymen from each church, to meet in convention in Pittsburgh, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 22d, 23d and 24th of October next. The object of the convention is to prepare the way for united effort to spread the Gospel among the poor and neglected, and to endeavor to awaken Christians of all denominations to the greatness and importance of the demands made upon them in the present crisis.

Consolidation Meeting in East Birmingham.

At the meeting of the Borough Council of East Birmingham, on Tuesday evening, Burgess Pate read the following communication to the Councils:

To the Burgess of East Birmingham:

DEAR SIR: You are hereby requested to call a meeting of the citizens of East Birmingham for consultation on the subject of consolidation, when both the friends and opponents of the measure may be heard. If not contrary to your own views of propriety, we request that you preside at said meeting.

The petition was signed by a large number of citizens and business men of the borough.

The Burgess having referred the matter to Councils, on motion, a meeting was called to consider the subject, at the corner of Carson and Railroad streets, on Saturday evening next at half-past seven o'clock.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE IN EAST LIBERTY.

Two More Victims to the Perpetual Motion Delusion.

A Husband and Wife Poison Themselves With Arsenic.

Investigation by the Coroner.

Yesterday morning the residents of the pleasant village of East Liberty were thrown into a state of unusual excitement, by the report that a man named Jacob Woll and his wife Magdalena, had committed suicide at the house of Mr. Mathias Rahe, of that place, by taking arsenic. Large numbers of persons hastened to the residence of Mr. Rahe, and were horrified to learn that the report was true. The facts in the case, so far as known, are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Woll, who have been residents of this city for thirty years; resided with their son Leopold, at No. 17 Webster street. Mr. Woll, who was a tailor by occupation, has for years been laboring under the mental delusion that he could discover the secret of perpetual motion, and has been endeavoring to construct a pump which, when once set in motion, would force water from a well for an indefinite period. The study and thought which he applied to the subject, disturbed his mind, and his wife also becoming imbued with the same idea, became deranged and a few months since attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the Monongahela river, but was rescued and sent to Dixmont. For some time past Mr. Woll has been drinking excessively, and on Monday last he succeeded in having his wife—who had partially recovered her reason—released from Dixmont and took her to his son's residence. Mrs. Woll, not being satisfied with the change, expressed a wish to return to the Asylum, and on Wednesday morning, she and her husband left home with the avowed purpose of going to Dixmont. Nothing further is known of their movements, until about four o'clock the same afternoon, when they were seen at East Liberty. Mr. Woll called at a drug store, and purchased ten cents worth of arsenic, saying that he wanted it to poison rats. They then went to the house of Mr. Rahe (formerly manager of the Oakland Passenger Railway) and asked permission to stop for the night. Mrs. Rahe was absent at the time, but upon returning she recognized Mrs. Woll as an old acquaintance, and cheerfully complied with the request. The couple retired early and during the night, Mr. Woll arose frequently and went to the pump in the yard for water.

About five o'clock yesterday morning the family were aroused by Mr. Woll crying for water, and upon a glass being handed him he drank a small portion of its contents, and fell back in the bed and expired. Dr. P. D. Perchment was summoned, but before his arrival it was discovered that Mrs. Woll, who was lying in the back part of the bed, was also dead. The physician made inquiries as to the symptoms, and at once pronounced it a case of arsenical poisoning. They had frequently expressed a determination to poison themselves, and Mr. Woll, who had read medicine, kept a number of different poisons in his house. In his pockets were found two ropes made from an old dress, with which it is supposed they intended hanging themselves. The deceased were about fifty years old, and leave a family of seven children.

THE INQUEST.

Coroner Clawson visited East Liberty yesterday morning and held an inquest on the bodies, when the following testimony was elicited:

TESTIMONY OF MR. RAHE.

Mathias Rahe sworn—Between seven and eight o'clock last evening, saw a man and woman come along my porch; the man shook hands with me; I asked him what his name was; he told me it was Woll; then took them into the light and saw it was Mr. Jacob Woll and his wife; they then asked for a drink of water; I went to get a glass and when I returned found them at the pump drinking from a cup which was standing on a table near by. They then came into the kitchen and asked if they could remain over night; told them to wait until my wife came home. He told me he had been taking his wife around the country for fresh air, and that she was sick. Mrs. Woll told me she had been in Dixmont, but that her husband had taken her out, and that she was sorry for it. When my wife came home she recognized Mr. Woll; she had been acquainted with her many years. My wife told them they could stay over night. Mr. Woll said he was very tired, and asked to be shown to bed. He went to bed first, and Mrs. Woll remained down stairs. When Mrs. Woll took the first drink of water she became sick and vomited. Mr. Woll said water always made her sick; Mrs. Woll took a few mouthsful of coffee, and then went to bed. I went to bed but the noise in the room occupied by Mr. Woll and his wife disturbed me. I came down stairs, and while reading heard Mr. Woll coming down several times; he went to the pump and got a drink each time. About five o'clock this morning I heard Mr. Woll call several times for his wife. She went to him, and he said he wanted a pitcher of water, that he was burning up. He took one sup, and then fell over in the bed. I got up and placed him straight in the bed, and then sent for some neighbors. Mrs. Woll was lying at the back part of the bed, and when we looked at her we found that she was dead. I sent for Dr. Perchment, but when he arrived, Mr. Woll was also dead. Did not see any poison in the possession of the deceased; Mr. Woll said that when he first came, that he was very tired, and that he thought he would die soon.

TESTIMONY OF JAMES GANSTER.

Jas. Ganster, sworn—Am proprietor of the Union Hotel. Mr. Wool came to my house yesterday afternoon and purchased ten cents worth of whisky. Told him he had better drink it at once. He said that he wanted it in a bottle; that he was going to play a temperance trick, and that I would hear from him soon.

TESTIMONY OF DR. CASTNER.

L. C. Castner, sworn—Keep a drug store on the Greensburg pike, East Liberty. Yesterday afternoon, between two and four o'clock, Mr. Woll, deceased, purchased arsenic from me. Keep a register of sales of poison. Register produced and signature of Mr. Wool identified. His wife was not with him at the time.

TESTIMONY OF DR. PERCHMENT.

Dr. P. D. Perchment sworn—Was called to see Mr. and Mrs. Woll about five o'clock this morning. They both were dead. Mr. Woll had evidently been dead for some time, but Mr. Woll had been dead only a few moments. From information obtained from Mr. and Mrs. Rahe, of the symptoms exhibited I was satisfied that death resulted from arsenical poisoning; they had evidently taken a large dose. I have no doubt that death resulted from arsenical poisoning.

TESTIMONY OF A SON OF DECEASED.

Leopold A. Woll, sworn—The deceased are my father and mother; they both lived with me at No. 17 Tunnel street, Pittsburgh. They left home between six and seven o'clock Wednesday morning. Father told me he was going to Mr. Pertinne to get a permit to Dixmont for mother. She wanted to go back. He appeared to be perfectly sane when he left home. He worked for me. He was a tailor by occupation. He has been drinking for thirty years.

THE VERDICT.

There being no further evidence, the jury, after a short consultation, returned verdicts to the effect that the deceased parties came to their death from the effects of arsenic administered by themselves.

Exciting Chase for a Prisoner.

Last evening about ten o'clock, as officer David Buchanan, of the special police, was passing along St. Clair street, he noticed Joseph McMullen, who made a murderous attack upon the life of James Martin, at the toll house of the Allegheny suspension bridge on Tuesday night, standing on the side walk. As an information had been made before the Mayor by Martin against McMullen for felonious assault and battery, the officer at once took him into custody, and started with him for the Mayor's office. Upon arriving at the corner of Fifth and Market streets, the prisoner turned suddenly and ran down Market to Liberty street, closely followed by the officer. McMullen, seeing that he was pursued, increased his speed, and darted down Hancock street to the river, jumped into the water and swam out into the stream. Mr. Buchanan summoned assistance, and after searching for some time discovered McMullen under the stern of a steamboat, where he had ensconced himself. A large pole was procured, and the fugitive "punched" so severely with it that he was compelled to leave his hiding place, when he was rearrested and marched to the lock-up in triumph. McMullen is an old offender, and it is hoped that he will meet with his deserts this time.

FOR SALE—VALUABLE PROPERTY IN ALLEGHENY.—A lot of ground fronting 118 feet on South avenue, extending back from the river 165 feet to a 20 foot public way, which divides it from the lots fronting on Rebecca street, thus having access both front and rear. On this property stand the finest shade trees in this vicinity. An old style mansion house stands upon the property, as well as out-houses. The owner, regarding it as little short of sacrilege to divide this splendid property, desires to dispose of it as a whole to one purchaser, and the sum asked for it is unquestionably low. For price and terms apply to GEO. H. HOLTZMAN, Real Estate Broker, 146 Wood street, Board of Trade Rooms, Pittsburgh.

OUR CANDIDATE.

Hon. Henry W. Williams.

[From the Pittsburgh Post, June 28.]

WORTHY CANDIDATES.

"The nomination of Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal aspersions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be."

[From the Pittsburgh Post, August 29.]

If the notice of Judge Williams's nomination which appeared in the "Post" at the time, and now kept standing at the head of the Republican papers, is intended as a rebuke for any supposed inconsistency since, it fails in its purpose. We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams's private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic. The Democracy plants itself upon principle and deals with facts, and discusses the public and official acts of candidates.

The Massachusetts Convention gave the issue of Prohibition a wide berth, and let it severely alone. Accounts all agree it was that which reduced the Republican majority in Maine; and the vote is regarded as a virtual repudiation of the Prohibitory principle by the people of the State. So manifest is it that the falling off in the Republican vote results not from changes on the political issues, that even the Democrats—with few brazen exceptions—have not the face to claim a real gain.

The year seems to be favorable to Copperheads. To the horde already in the field Judge Woodward is now added, he having been nominated by the Sharswood Democracy in the Luzerne district. His nomination is the latest illustration of the fitness of things. During the rebellion he was on the side of Jeff. Davis. As Judge he declared the draft unconstitutional, and did his best to assist the rebels. He is, therefore, the most fit man in the world to be the candidate of the Johnson-Sharswood Democracy.

"Now is the moment for Mr. Johnson to seize fortune at the flood. The reaction is coming. Let him resign and lead it." So said the Herald lately. This allusion to the flood is mysterious. Does it mean that Mr. Johnson's best chance of fortune is to drown himself, and to do it in a hurry, while he has the chance? The fortnight's history, embracing the Herald's railing at Mr. Johnson, its flattering of Mr. Johnson and its finishing touch and climax, in advising him to resign, is equal to the performance of any "harlotry player," and should be illustrated in some funny paper.

Our Democratic neighbor, in his solemn address, yesterday morning, to Allegheny county, says there will be no mass meetings on the Democratic side this year. A most considerate resolve! A most adroit piece of strategy! Abortive mass meetings are demoralizing. It is a good while since public curiosity was gratified with the sight of a Democratic mass meeting in Allegheny county. We should really be pleased to see one. But as the powers of the party have resolved otherwise, we shall have to acquiesce in the prudential arrangement. No mass meetings, no agitation, no discussion!

The Democratic party this year presents an anomalous appearance. So far as its leaders exhibit it in Allegheny county it has no important principles of its own to maintain and no general benefit to the community even to promise. Having nothing to defend, its strategy is wholly aggressive, and, being without the slightest chance of success, is as reckless as it is hopeless. The party may be said to have a tripod form. On its three legs it stands, walks and staggers; or, as the late lamented Artemus might have expressed it: "The pints of argument, first and foremost and forever, the nigger; secondly, the licker; third and lastly, the Yankee."

Theophilus C. Callicott—of unsavory memory—is the last "lame duck" that has turned up in the capacity of United States Revenue Collector in Brooklyn, which is a very near neighbor to New York. Of course whisky frauds are in the case. And the question is, who owns Callicott—who, by the way, is no fool, but very oily—and on whom shall the odium of his appointment fall? Weed and the Tribune are at it "hot and heavy" on this point, and Weed, according to the latest advices, has the advantage. Callicott was one of Secretary Chase's Cotton Inspectors in the Southwest; and the fact occasioned no little surprise, as did his appointment by Mr. McCulloch.

A scape-goat for the Mexican fiasco has been found by the satraps of the Emperor in the person of Marshal Bazaine, who represented the French interests in Mexico. He is to be made a victim, and perhaps not without some degree of justice. He is arraigned in the Paris press on a long and very serious indictment, the leading counts being that he refused Maximilian an escort to Vera Cruz, left Mexico without bidding adieu to the Archduke, instigated him to make the decree of the 3d of October, kept its annulment secret, caused Romero to be shot, and offered to deliver Maximilian to the Liberals.

In regard to the subject a Paris letter says:

The appearance of these charges was the signal for a perfect storm of ink-propelling quills. The Pays, the Patrie, and other papers devoted to the government, and "semi-official," came out with "thunderers" against their contemporary; and a certain Count, who was a crony of Bazaine's in Mexico, has issued a letter in which he lifts his hands in holy horror at the audacity of any one hinting dishonor about a Marshal of France! Yet I find, in going about, that there are very many shrewd Frenchmen who really believe in the truth of many of these charges. Marshal Bazaine is already the most unpopular man in the Empire, unquestionably; and people are much inclined to believe that he was cruel in the conduct of the war, perfidious to Maximilian, and corrupt in his dealings with Mexican leaders. It is said that at this moment the Marshal is preparing an elaborate defense of his career in Mexico, in which he expects to justify everything; and it is a somewhat suspicious circumstance that he is out of France, and that his relations with Napoleon of late are not believed to have been of a very friendly character; perhaps he means to cut loose, and disclose certain secrets of which he may be in possession, damaging to the palace. At all events, the blame of the Mexican failure, and all the detestable blunders which occurred in that country, seems to be awarded to him by a majority of thinking people here.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT MEANS.

Our special dispatches from Washington, in yesterday's Commercial, expressly declare that the President does not intend or expect to have the registration process reopened where it has been completed, in the Southern States. This, in view of the amnesty proclamation, is puzzling. To what extent did he anticipate the removal of disabilities from the late rebels, by his proclamation, if not to restore suffrage? The words of the President in the document are, it is true, ambiguous, and may be interpreted as extending only to the question of property. But it has generally been differently interpreted.

If the common understanding of it be correct, it is inconsistent with the declaration reported in our dispatches of yesterday. If, on the other hand, the language of the proclamation be applied only to the rights of property, there is no such inconsistency; and no occasion has been given for the suspicion that the President is pursuing a two-sided part, however much the proclamation itself may be disapproved of. It must, however, be maintained still, that the drift and tone of the entire preamble are calculated to lead the reader into the former interpretation of the Amnesty clause of the Proclamation, or in other words, that it was intended fully to enfranchise the rebels. And hence has naturally arisen the suspicion and statement that he is pursuing a deceitful course in reference to the registration and the right of rebels to vote. The correspondent of the Times, writing from Washington, declares such to be the meaning attached to the proclamation there. His words are explicit and show such to be the understanding of the proclamation both by the friends and the opponents of the President.

The Amnesty Proclamation, which made its appearance yesterday, is accepted here by the friends of Congress as the first step in the Presidential purpose of reopening registration, and delaying the elections already ordered in the rebel States, until those whom it is claimed are by this proclamation restored to the right of franchise can register. If it does not mean this, say Republicans, it does not mean anything. This construction is strongly confirmed by the intimate political friends of the President who have been urging this measure, who unhesitatingly assert that enfranchisement follows as a logical consequence, and that the President, now committed to that position, must of necessity carry it into practice by the requisite orders to the military commanders. The class who urge this upon the President are these men who are really anxious for a direct conflict with Congress.

This course is just as clearly foreshadowed, and just as confidently predicted by the President's most intimate advisers here, as the events which have already occurred have done. If it is not followed, ascribe it to a lack of courage on the part of the President, and not to any faltering in the purposes of his political bedfellows.

WORDS OF WARNING!

The warning conveyed in recent election returns should be taken to heart by every Republican in Pennsylvania. And we believe it will be. It is on our supineness, and not on any change that has occurred in public sentiment, that the Democrats ground their expectations. There is no change among the people to their side. No reason exists why there should be any; on the contrary there are the greatest of reasons why the people who carried the country through the great struggle should remain steadfast. The fruits must be preserved. They are endangered by the treachery of the President and the newborn vigilance of the Democrats, into whose arms he has cast himself. There is greater need now than ever before for vigilance and devotion. There must be activity, and that, too, without any delay. In Pennsylvania there is a clear Republican majority. There is not in the State a Republican who would not sincerely grieve over defeat, and lament bitterly should it arise from any lack of effort on his part. It is solely through the lack of effort on the part of Republicans that the Democrats think success on their part is possible. The whole thing, therefore, rests with the Republican party, and depends on the degree of their activity.

Republicans of Allegheny! Let us do our duty. And that it shall be thoroughly done, let us lose no time. Not a day more should be thrown away. The time though short is long enough to do everything that is necessary to be done to insure a Republican victory.

The Turkish barbarities against Christians are noticed and denounced on all hands. Barbarities as terrible, and without the excuse of war, are perpetrated by Christians upon unoffending Jews, and they scarcely attract attention or occasion remark. The persecution of Jews, by professing Christians in Wallachia, is a system of robbery. It has its most graphic and correct illustration in the history of the Jew Isaac, in Ivanhoe. Extortion, by the most cruel persecution and fraud, is practiced with impunity, and Jews are stripped of their possessions, and their families turned out of their houses to wander as beggars. The nineteenth century among such Christians seems to have gone back to the fourteenth, or rather they have never got out of the fourteenth. Thus is presented the singular and inconsistent sight, that, in points not very remote from each other, those called Christians, of the Greek Church, are miserably persecuting the Jews, while their brethren of the same church are appealing to humanity against persecution at the hands of the Turks.

Honors to General Sickles.

The Union Central Committee in New York are making arrangements to give Gen. Sickles a fitting reception at Cooper Institute. This is right. The General has done his duty well, and is a victim—whom even General Grant could not save—to the desperation of Andrew Johnson. At a meeting of the Committee Monday evening, a large committee was appointed to execute this purpose, with Charles S. Spencer at the head. Having done this the Committee waited on General Sickles at the Brevoort House, and were introduced, thereupon Mr. Spencer stated the object of the visit. He concluded his brief speech as follows:

We ask you to address the people at the Cooper Institute at such time as you shall select. As friends of yours, we do not expect, and shall not ask you to speak as an exponent of our peculiar political views; but merely in vindication of your administration and policy as the Commander of the Second Military District of the South.

General Sickles replied:

Gentlemen—I need not assure you of the pleasure I feel in receiving you, and the gratification I derive in the assurance you give me that my course has met with your approbation. I will prepare to take into consideration the polite offer you have made me to meet my fellow-citizens. It is not possible for me at this moment to signify my formal acceptance of this offer. I have taken pains to ascertain from the Government the particular grounds of accusation which have prompted my removal. Pending the formal answer to my communication, it would not be proper for me to discuss (in public assemblage) the measures of my administration. But I presume, at an early day, it will be in my power to name a time when I can meet my fellow-citizens to discuss before them questions that most interest the country at this time. As soon as it is in my power to do so I will communicate with you further.

The officers and soldiers of the Excelsior Brigade are also making arrangements to give their old commander a fitting reception. But General Sickles desires to avoid all public display at present. His rank in the regular army is that of a Colonel in the Forty-Second Infantry.

It is said that several Italian residents of New York contemplate introducing on our race tracks the system of racing so common in Florence and Rome—running horses without riders. A thong of leather is attached to the girths of the animals; on this thong, at various distances, tri-pointed spurs are placed, and as the horse dashes forward these spurs strike on his flanks, and the greater his speed the more he is goaded along. An announcement like this should cause the gentlemen comprising the society to prevent cruelty to animals to prick up their ears. There are features about racing which at least are bad enough, but this would be the refinement of cruelty. The question is, how or where is the goaded horse to be stopped? Is he, under the goading operation to run till he drops down?

It will be gratifying to all good citizens to know that the outrage, committed on a young lady travelling through this city, is not lost sight of by the police authorities. A reward of $100 is offered for the detection of the perpetrators. One person is under arrest, and is identified by the injured stranger as one connected with the transaction. Hopes are entertained of bringing all to justice. It is the duty of every person who may be able to facilitate this result to do so. It appears that there are animals in human shape lurking about the city, who are worse than beasts of prey, and the more of them the police may be able to cage the safer it will be for good and peaceable citizens and strangers in the city.

The Hon. Mr. Boutwell, member of the House of Representatives from Massachusetts, spoke in Boston, on Friday evening. As one of the foremost men in Congress, his language has some significance. He said:

The times, Mr. Boutwell declared, were as critical as in 1861. The conviction of Mr. Johnson's impeachment must come before the House of Representatives. There was no escape from it. This country could not remain passive and submissive, while every patriot in the land thought there was danger from the man who occupies the chair of Washington and Lincoln, and who, it is so generally believed, was endeavoring to restore the "lost cause" to power. All subordinate interests should be laid on the altar of the country. The President's conduct should be investigated, and if guilty he should be punished. The grounds for the accusation against him would soon be laid before the country. If innocent he would be acquitted; if guilty he would be convicted; and if convicted, the country would acquiesce, and would pass through the trial safely, and would yet go on in a prosperous, free, united and happy career.

In a speech in Boston a few days since, Hon. R. H. Dana referred to the revolutionary designs of the President, and the meditated coup d'etat. He did not believe, however, he could execute it while Grant and others were in the Cabinet. Mr. Dana said:

When Mr. Johnson got rid of these men, and began to gather a military force about him, he could do it without observation; and force would be met by force. The States furnished the men to protect Washington during the war. The militia of Massachusetts found their way to Washington at once; they knew the road; and if they are needed, they could find their way there again. [Applause.]

The table of white male taxables, just published, shows that the voting list of the city of Philadelphia has increased to the immense number of 132,968. This, at the ordinary ratio of one voter to every six inhabitants, would make the present population of Philadelphia 797,808, and this is about the best estimate of the population of the city that can be had in the absence of an official census.

In response to "innumerable inquires," Col. Forney's Foreign Letters will be published in a volume by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia. We venture to suggest to the Colonel that he should run his pen through certain passages, which a re-reading will readily make known to him.

The Republicans of Philadelphia will hold a grand ratification meeting at Horticultural Hall on this evening. It will be addressed by Senators Cameron, Cattell, Frelinghuysen; Governors Pollock and Curtin; Colonel Jones and others.

We understand that General Grant makes no secret of his opinion that Andrew Johnson's last amnesty to the traitors was a clear and wanton defiance of law.—Phila. Press.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

A counterfeit one dollar note on the First National Bank of Portsmouth is in circulation.

The dry goods article of this week's Independent states "that during the past week our dry goods houses have been fairly active; sales have been lively and well distributed among all classes—importers, commission houses, the auction rooms, jobbers and retailers—with the single exception of the few houses whose business connections have been mainly with the Gulf States, where the extremely malignant character of the yellow fever, now raging as an epidemic, necessarily retards and diminishes the purchase and shipment of goods."

It is stated that Orin M. Beach, President of the exploded Farmers' and Citizens' Bank of Williamsburgh, was also President of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Greenpoint, and Treasurer of the Bennehoff Run Oil Company; Treasurer of the Tionesta and Sugar Creek Oil Company; Treasurer of the Challenge Gold and Silver Mining Company, and Director of the Trust River Navigation Company, as well as holding position on the executive committees of various railroad projects.

In selecting the name for the new hotel at St. Louis, suggestions were solicited by advertisement. Three hundred names were sent in. The name of Paschell was chosen in honor of the late Nathaniel Paschell, editor of the St. Louis Republican.

Counterfeit five cent pieces have appeared. It is easily detected by the difference of weight between the bogus and the genuine. Numbers of these counterfeits have already been put in circulation.

We are assured that the reports from Italy are very discouraging to travelers who are wending their way thither to see something of the ancient Queen of the World. Cholera has appeared here and there, and in some places is spreading rapidly, and becoming terrific; bidding fair to suffuse itself over the whole beautiful, but miasmatic continent. It has terrified tourists to such a degree that they are flocking over the Alps and from Switzerland hither in hundreds, and the steamers of America will probably run full now for some time to come.

It is stated that there are suspicions that Jones was not so badly whipped by McCoole as has been reported, and that the victory on the part of the latter was bought and paid for. The ribs of Jones were said to be broken, but if so, it is stated that he has recovered from the breakage in three days, as he was walking about that city on Tuesday evening.

An important case has just been decided in Farquier county, Virginia. It involved about one hundred thousand dollars. It appears that the plaintiff bought a farm during the war, and was to pay in Confederate Treasury notes. The rebellion was put down before the payment had been completed, and the defendant then refused to make over the farm. Plaintiff then brought suit to compel the execution of the contract. The District Judge sustained the defendant, and ordered the annuling of the contract. Mosby was one of the plaintiff's counsel.

PERSONAL.

—Hon. John W. Stevenson, of Covington, Ky., upon whom the office of Governor temporarily devolves, was a Democratic member of Congress, 1857-61, and had previously been a member of the Kentucky Legislature, Kentucky Constitutional Convention, Buchanan Presidential elector, &c. Since twenty years ago he has been a delegate in all the National Democratic Coventions, and was, in 1860, a zealous supporter of Breckenridge, his old friend and former partner.

—Gen. Sickles was waited upon in New York by many of his personal and political friends, who congratulated him upon his return to the city. The General thanked them, and intimated that, as he had seen enough now of public life, he had made up his mind to remain in a "private station"—now, he says, the only "post of honor."

—A Frenchman named Negroin is rivaling the late Prince Esterhazy as a diamond collector. He lately astonished a Paris notary by sending him a handful of diamonds to pay for a new residence costing £16,000. He also directed the notary to buy a country seat worth £25,000 to £30,000, to be paid for in the same way. He has several million dollars worth of the precious stones.

—It is estimated that Amasa Sprague has expended $250,000 in fitting up Naragansett Park, in Providence, R. I. The gateway cost $7,000, and the bridge of granite for the horse railroad to pass over cost $30,000. The park comprises eighteen acres of land.

—Gen. Sickles is thus described: The General is in excellent health, although he had a very boisterous passage from Charleston to this city. The General wore the undress uniform of his rank in the army, and looks exactly as he did on the memorable day of Gettysburg, when doing his duty gallantly, his right leg was shot to pieces, and as he did at Chancellorsville, when with his Third Corps he stayed the rout of the Union army, and restored order and organization to a tumultuous chaos of fugitives. There is the same cool, calm eye, well cut chin, stern soldierly face, and cropped military hair, making him a perfect type of the French infantry officer, so well known in Vernet's and Charpentier's pictures of Gallic military life.

—Dickens' tour in the United States will occupy about seven months. His avowed object in coming here is not for curiosity, nor to add to his reputation, but to make money. The charge for admission to his reading will be high—more than is usually charged in this country for a similar entertainment. At his readings in London the prices of tickets vary from two shillings to five shillings. The highest priced seats are in front, and require of their occupants the formality of a dress coat and white gloves, a style of dress that the reader also adopts.

The different investigating committees appointed by the Fortieth Congress are about to commence work. The Select Committee on Frauds in the Pay Department are now in session in New York, and the Special Committee on Southern Railroads will go South in a few days. The Committee on elections is divided into two branches, one of which, with Hon. Henry L. Dawes as chairman, will meet at Bridgeport, October 10th, to inquire into the alleged frauds in the election of W. H. Barnum, the Democratic member elect from the Fourth District. The other branch, with Mr. Schofield, of Pennsylvania, as chairman, will meet at Louisville, Ky., about the same time, to inquire into the contested cases from that State. A sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee will meet in Baltimore next month to inquire into the form of government adopted by Maryland. The joint Select Committee on Retrenchment will meet in New York the latter part of this month, and the Committee on Ordinance, at Washington, September 23d.

The New York Commercial Bulletin, alluding to the rumor that Secretary McCulloch is to be superceded, says: "We have no hesitation in branding the report as a fabrication, without the slightest foundation in fact. We have thoroughly reliable assurances that, despite the sinister outside pressure against Mr. McCulloch, President Johnson has never seriously contemplated making any change in the responsible direction of the Department—the great work of which, in the way of funding and liquidating the public indebtedness has been so efficiently, so judiciously and so acceptably pushed forward during the little more than two years that Secretary McCulloch has administered the affairs of the Department. If any change shall occur, it will be the result of the voluntary action of the honorable Secretary. And we do not believe that he means to withdraw from a position in which he has rendered, and continues to render such important service to the financial interests of his Government."

Engineer Roebling—in whose fame Pittsburgh has a deep interest—to whom the plans for the Great Suspension Bridge from New York to Brooklyn were submitted, has made his report. He decides in favor of the New York terminus being at City Hall square and the Brooklyn end at the corner of Fulton and Main streets. By the plan of the proposed bridge, the heart of the business section of New York will be placed in immediate contact with the best residence section of Brooklyn. Swift and luxurious steam cars will, we hope, in five years' time be making five minute trips between City Hall Park and Main street, Brooklyn.

The Trial of Davis—How the Farce Will be Played.

A letter from Richmond says that Davis will appear for trial at the November term of the United States District Court at Richmond, and the case will probably be finally disposed of in this way: The counsel for the defense will declare themselves ready for trial. The Court will signify its assent in the same manner. The government will ask for time under the pretense of being unprepared—a shift to get out of the trial. The Court will then say that it will be in session for a considerable period, which will afford the government ample time to prepare, and if its representatives fail to prosecute the prisoner before the term of the Court expires, it will in that case probably declare the prisoner discharged in the absence of the prosecutor.

THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED

WILL POSITIVELY DISTRIBUTE THE PRIZES AT THE

THIRD GRAND CONCERT

THAT WILL TAKE PLACE AT

IRVING HALL,

NEW YORK,

Tuesday, Sept. 24th, 1867.

Bankers' and Merchants' second Grand Concert was given at Irving Hall, August 24th. It was a grand success. The large hall was filled with the most respectable citizens of New York. The Committee that was appointed at the first Concert, announced to the audience that they would distribute the prizes at the next Concert, which will take place at Irving Hall, on the 24th of September, 1867.

When the Committee made this announcement, the audience gave immense applause. They were pleased to know that the prizes would be distributed at the next Concert on the 24th.

This Grand Distribution of Prizes will be conducted on the

MUTUAL BENEFIT PRINCIPLE.

A PRO RATA DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS TO TICKET HOLDERS.

CAPITAL, - $1,287,148.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

And limited to One Million Two Hundred and Eighty-seven Thousand One Hundred and Forty-Eight.

THE FAIREST AND MOST IMPARTIAL PLAN OF PRESENTATION YET OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

A Prize with Every Tieket.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Entertainments of the day, have formed themselves into a company, with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-purchasers than any yet presented; and which being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises.

To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering the same, to Clark, Webster & Co., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of presents.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the Commercial and Financial standing of the Company, and the Managers and Bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket-holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

A few avaricious and unprincipled Flour Dealers in and around Pittsburgh, are now purchasing second-hand sacks, with our brand upon them, filling them with an inferior quality, and selling it as our Flour. Finding it difficult to procure the quantity of second-hand sacks, they are trying to get the sack maker here to make and print a lot for them.

To prevent this fraud, we are now pasting our sacks, and sealing them with a printed label, with name of firm and date of manufacture.

As we keep a register of the Flour made each day, and the kind of Wheat ground, we are at all times enabled to know the quality of Flour made.

Look Out for Short Weights.

Some of the dealers who are filling the sacks, are putting up short weights, in some cases equal to twenty pounds per barrel, making fully one dollar per barrel loss to consumer.

A REWARD OF $50

Will be paid for information that will lead to the detection and conviction of any person engaged in this fraudulent business.

Its healthful location, and its country position, while yet so near the city, gives it advantages over either city or country schools.

Its character as a first rate Seminary of Learning is too well known to need further comments.

The LIBRARY, CABINET AND APPARATUS, already very extensive, are receiving yearly additions.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

Return of the Mutual Base Ball Club and an Account of their matches—Match Games at Rochester, Mercer and Rough Bend, Pa., and Mt. Union, Ohio.

RETURN OF THE MUTUAL FROM OHIO.

The Mutual Base Ball Club, of East Liberty, returned from Ohio on Tuesday evening, feeling rather good over the victories they achieved while on their western trip. They arrived in Salem, Ohio, on Monday noon, and were kindly received by the members of the Independent Base Ball Club. After partaking of a hearty dinner at the Broadway House, they proceeded to the scene of action, followed by the anxious spectators, among whom were a large number of the fair sex. The game commenced at two o'clock, and was extremely interesting and exciting throughout, good playing being displayed on both sides. The batting and running of Morrison, the fielding of McKelvy and Martin, and the activity of McKelvy, as short stop, was excellent. The game lasted three hours and twenty minutes, when, with the hearty cheers of the spectators the clubs retired from the field, the Mutual carrying the day. They returned to the Broadway House, where they were very kindly received by Mr. Cornwell, the proprietor, who done all he could for the comfort and enjoyment of the boys.

Tuesday morning they played the Athletics, who, seeing the match the day before, thought to distinguish themselves, and after a very closely contested game had to succumb to the superior playing of the Mutual. The umpiring of Mr. H. N. Adams on this occasion was well worthy of note—the impartial and gentlemanly manner in which he rendered all decisions throughout the game. They were then escorted to the depot and left in the best of spirits for Beaver, Pa., where they played the Rough and Ready the same day.

The playing was interesting as usual, the Beaver boys doing their best to beat, but the Mutual proved too much for them. The catching and batting of Morrison, the pitching of Kerr and McKelvy, the fly catching of Martin and the catching of Tomer, Lewis and Lylle on the bases, was excellent. The way in which Tomer watched his base is well worthy of note. In the three games he put out thirty-one men—twenty-one on base and ten on the fly (a second Irwin). The Mutual had things their own way toward the last. In the seventh innings three men on a base and a splendid hit by Myers brought them all home and gave Myers the third base. The eighth innings being played, the Umpire called game on account of darkness. The Mutual boys were then escorted to the depot and arrived home on the ten o'clock train well pleased with their trip.

The following are the scores of the respective games:

SPECIAL NOTICE.

HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT BEVERAGE OF HEALTH prescribed by Physicians in New York and in the Western States: It is a well-known fact that most of American physicians prescribe this healthful beverage as a tonic as well as a pleasant remedy for dyspeptics, debilitated consumptives, convalescents, invalids, and weak persons, especially in consequence of the recommendation of the report to the New York Academy of Medicine; with the names of the Professors Fordyce Barker, Van Buren, James R. Wood, of New York City, we name also the well-known Dr. T. Comstock, of St. Louis, who recommends it to his patients in his practice. The eminent physicians, Drs. Crane and White, of New York, wrote to Mr. Hoff, 542 Broadway, New York, the following letter: "We have used Hoff's Malt Extract in practice, and the results have been such as to fully justify the claims made for it; we feel certain that it is destined to supply a want long felt."

Dr. Blecken, of Redwing, Minn., wrote: "I saw by the papers that the genuine Hoff's Malt Extract has been introduced in America; this is an acquisition of the greatest importance for consumptives. My uncle, M. D. Sandersleben (Prussian Counsellor of Medicine), wrote me about its wonderful efficacy; he had prescribed it at St. Paul and obtained the best results; now I wish to try it with one of my medical friends, Dr. Caine, who is suffering from pulmonary consumption, with spasmodic asthma;" please, therefore, (follows order.) Sold at Druggists and Grocers. Price 60c per single bottle, or $6 50 per dozen. FR. SPONHOLZ, Sole Agent, 245 Liberty street. Also for sale by BAUMAN, Allegheny City, and A. RODE, Birmingham. eod

CAUTION.—We call attention to the fact that imitations of our fine ELECTRO-PLATE, consisting of Dinner, Dessert and Tea Services, etc., are being extensively offered for sale by American manufacturers, and that there are also English imitations in the market, both of inferior quality. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS—Nervous Debility, &c.—As a sedative and invigorating medicine, these Pills have had an astonishing success in every part of the civilized globe. They are unaffected by climate, as their operations are the same in the torrid zone or the Arctic regions. They regulate the pulse and the action of the heart, brace and strengthen the relaxed nerves, give tone and energy to the general system, and by re-establishing a vigorous effort of the vital functions extinguish the elements of melancholy, depressed spirits, blues, vapors, &c. In pursuance thereof I, SAMUEL B. CLULEY, Sheriff of the County of Allegheny, do therefore make known and give this public notice to the electors of said County of Allegheny, that a GENERAL ELECTION will be held in said County, on the SECOND TUESDAY, 8th DAY OF OCTOBER NEXT, at the several Election Districts therein, and

WHEREAS, By the Act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "An Act to Amend the several Acts heretofore passed to provide for the Enrolling and Calling Out of the National Forces, and for other purposes," and approved March 3d, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five. All persons who have deserted the Military or Naval Service of the United States, and who have not been discharged or relieved from the penalty on disability therein provided, are deemed and taken to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights to citizenship and their rights to become citizens, and are deprived of exercising any rights of citizenship, and,

WHEREAS, Persons not citizens of the United States, are not under the Constitution and laws of Pennsylvania qualified electors of the Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and is hereby enacted by authority of the same: That in all elections hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, it shall be unlawful for the Judge or Inspectors of any such election to receive any ballot or ballots from any person or persons embraced in the provision and subject to the disability imposed by said act of Congress approved March 3, 1865, and it shall be unlawful for any such person to offer to vote any ballot or ballots.

SEC. 2. That if any such Judge or Inspectors of election, or any one of them shall receive or consent to receive any such unlawful ballot or ballots from any such disqualified person, he or they so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of this Commonwealth, he shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars and to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the proper county for not less than sixty days.

SEC. 3. That if any person deprived of citizenship and disqualified as aforesaid, shall at any election hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, vote or tender to the officers thereof and offer to vote, a ballot or ballots, any person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of the Commonwealth, shall for each offense be punished in like manner as is provided in the preceding section of this Act in the case of officers of election receiving such unlawful ballot or ballots.

SEC. 4. That if any person shall hereafter persuade or advise any person or persons deprived of citizenship, and disqualified as aforesaid to offer any ballot or ballots to the officers of any election hereafter to be held in this Commonwealth, such persons so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any Court of Quarter Sessions of this Commonwealth shall be punished in like manner as is provided in the second section of this act, in the case of officers of election receiving such unlawful ballot or ballots.

And, further by the first section of the Act of March 30, 1861.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in general Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the qualified voters of the several counties of this Commonwealth, at all general, township, borough and special elections, are hereby, hereafter, authorized and required to vote by tickets printed, or written, or partly printed and partly written, severally classified as follows: One ticket shall embrace the names of all judges of courts, voted for, and to be labeled, outside, "judiciary;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all State officers voted for, and labeled "State;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all county officers voted for, including office of senator, member and members of assembly, if voted for, and members of Congress, if voted for, and be labeled "county;" a ticket shall embrace the names of all township officers voted for, and be labeled "township;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all borough officers voted for, and be labeled "borough;" and each class shall be deposited in separate ballot-boxes.

And as directed by said 13th section of the act of July, 1839, I hereby give notice that every person (excepting Justices of the Peace) who shall hold any office or appointment of profit or trust under the Government of the United States or of this State, or of any city or incorporated district, whether a commissioned officer or otherwise, a subordinate officer or agent, who is or shall be employed under the legislative, executive or judiciary departments of this State, or of the United States, or of any city or incorporated district, and also that every member of Congress, and of the State Legislature, and of the select or common council of any city, or commissioners of any incorporated district, is by law, incapable of holding or exercising, at the same time, the office or appointment of Judge, Inspector or Clerk of any election of this Commonwealth; and that no Inspector, Judge or other officer of any such election shall be eligible to any office to be then voted for.

And further, that by the 4th section of the act of April 16, 1840, it is provided that the aforesaid 13th section of the act of July 2, 1839, shall not be so construed as to prevent any militia officer or borough officer from serving as Judge, Inspector, or Clerk at any general or special election in this Commonwealth.

UNION MASS MEETING.

At the Monongahela House Last Evening.

Speeches of Major Russell Errett, F. B. Penniman, Esq., J. W. Taylor, Esq., and J. F. Keeler, Esq.

A very large, spirited and enthusiastic mass meeting of Republican voters was held last evening, in front of the Monongahela House, Smithfield street. It had been announced that Major Russell Errett, our candidate for State Senator, would be present and address the meeting, and at an early hour the street in front of the balcony was thronged for the distance of several hundred feet. An excellent brass band was in attendance, and discoursed a number of popular and patriotic airs.

THE ORGANIZATION.

At half-past seven o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mr. Thomas T. Everett, on whose motion the following officers were chosen to preside:

President—J. F. Keeler, Esq.

Vice Presidents—John McD. Crossan, William M. Lyon, Thomas W. Davis, William N. Ogden, Capt. Wm. H. Beltzhoover, John Paul, G. H. Tower and Aaron Floyd.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Press.

Mr. Keeler, on taking the chair, briefly thanked the meeting for the honor conferred, and introduced Major Russell Errett as the first speaker.

SPEECH OF MAJOR ERRETT.

On taking the stand the Major was greeted with vociferous applause. When quiet had been restored he remarked that he was suffering from the effects of a very severe cold, and would not be able to be heard throughout the audience unless order and decorum were observed. His remarks would necessarily be brief, as he would not tax his voice too much. Having said this much by way of introduction, the Major spoke as follows:

Those of you, my friends, who are readers of the daily papers, (and who are not?) cannot fail to be impressed with the painful fact that the country is gradually drifting into danger which may lead to wreck and ruin. The perverseness of the President in endeavoring to force his own will upon the nation as law, in utter defiance of the law-making power is creating a peril which nothing but the firmness of the people can avoid, and puts upon us an issue we are compelled to meet.

This is no manufactured "crisis" of the politicians, got up to excite you into political activity, but a real and alarming crisis, which is upon us without our agency, and claims our attention whether we will or no.

"The President means revolution," Ben Wade says, and that is the opinion of all close observers of the times. Shall he be permitted to revolutionize the Government? That is the one great, absorbing question of the day. It cannot be shirked; it must be met and answered. Shall we continue our Republican form of government, or shall we permit Andrew Johnson to establish a despotism upon the ruins? After a maintenance of that form of government for eighty years, and after just coming out of a four year's war to establish its supremacy, that seems an odd question to ask; yet odd as it seems, it is to-day the one great, absorbing question for the people to decide.

When Mr. Johnson was swinging around the circle, last year, Mr. Seward asked a New York audience, "Do you want Andrew Johnson to be King?" The plain meaning of that question was a threat that if the people did not sustain Mr. Johnson at the polls and in Congress he would usurp the Government. People laughed at it then, and regarded it as one of the Secretary's incomprehensible jokes. They could not bring themselves to look upon it as in earnest, or to consider seriously anything so apparently absurd.

Yet events are daily teaching us that it was not so absurd as it seemed. Every day we hear of the President assuming the powers, if not the State of a King. The people would not sustain him, and now we are beginning to realize the alternative presented in Mr. Seward's question. He has already usurped the law making power of the Government, arrogating to himself powers he does not possess, defying and setting aside the plain provisions of the supreme laws of the land, and is busily engaged in scheming to overturn the power of Congress and establish himself as the absolute head of the Government.

The first step in this scheming was to get rid of Stanton, and this he has accomplished in plain defiance of a law of Congress specially passed to prevent it. So long as that iron-handed, lion-hearted veteran occupied the War Office, so long it was impossible to carry on the President's conspiracy. With Stanton there, Mr. Johnson could not remove Sheridan, nor handle the army to suit his purposes, nor put its heroes out of the way while the conspiracy was ripening.

So Stanton was turned out, contrary to all law; Sheridan was bundled off to the Plains, so as to be beyond immediate reach in case of a conflict; Sickles is ordered to his regiment in Montana, Dakotah, or some other spot thousands of miles from civilization; Pope and Howard are soon to follow; the great mass of the army, with Sherman at its head, is sent off towards the Rocky Mountains, to hunt for Indians they can never find; and gradually every prominent and active man in the army is to be sent in the same direction, so as to be beyond possible recall in a time of emergency. These are all successive steps in the conspiracy, each following the other with rapidity, showing a bold and determined, as well as wicked purpose. Grant is thus left without an army, and without generals—powerless, as the President hopes, to resist or explode the rapidly ripening plot.

The mere fact that Grant now occupies the War Office does not militate against this theory. He was put there merely to ward off suspicion and throw the people off their guard. In due time the President will find some pliant tool for his successor, and Grant will be ordered back to headquarters, only to find himself powerless to cope with the conspirators. What could he do, if occasion should arise for his doing anything, with the army and its able generals thousands of miles away? And what next? What is calling all the Democratic politicians to Washington? What brings Lee and all the other rebel generals to the same rendezvous at the same time? What means the formation of the Maryland rebels into regiments by the score, with nightly drills and constant alacrity of movement? What can all these things mean that a most treasonable plot is hatching?

Forewarned is forearmed. Fortunately for us, these things cannot all be done in the dark, and we have thus fair notice of the danger ahead. What, then, can we do to avert it?

The first thing for us to do is to defeat Mr. Johnson's Democratic allies at the polls. The Democratic party is his only support, and it is through the agency of that party he hopes to accomplish his designs. Last year the President was baulked in his designs by the overwhelming defeat of the Democrats at the fall elections. A similar defeat this year will baulk him again, and hold him in check, at least until Congress meets; but anything that can be tortured into a Democratic victory in the October and November elections will so embolden him and his supporters that Congress would never be permitted to meet again. The rebel legions of Maryland would bar the way, and a new rebellion would stare us in the face.

An overwhelming Republican victory is thus our only remedy. It is for you, fellow-citizens, to secure it. The late election in Maine shows that while 10,000 Republicans stayed at home only 2,000 Democrats refrained from voting. Do not, therefore, count on Democratic apathy in Pennsylvania to offset Republican apathy. If you do you will be deceived. There may be no outward signs of activity in their ranks; but that is no indication of apathy. Take it for granted that every Democratic vote will be polled. If you defeat them you must go to work, and at once. Organization, energy and vigilance can accomplish every thing, and these you must have. The sense of impending danger ought to be a sufficient stimulant to provoke not only all these, but enthusiasm, likewise; for with the life of the country in absolute peril, every true patriot should be enthusiastic in its defense.

While, however, we give this prominent place to the National danger, let us not forget that there are State questions also invoking our attention. Foremost among these is that of a Free Railroad Law. The Democratic Convention which nominated Judge Sharswood, refused, under the lead of Jerry Black, the chief adviser of Andy Johnson, to adopt the Free Railroad Law as a part of its platform. The Republican Convention which nominated Judge Williams, on the contrary, adopted heartily a resolution in favor of it, and made it an essential part of our policy. And most wisely. A free Railroad Law is not a necessity merely for the Western part of the State, but for the whole of it. Everywhere throughout the Commonwealth the people have felt the cold, heavy iron hand of railroad monopoly and clamor to be released from it. They feel that the great resources of the State cannot be developed without it, nor can the wants of the now isolated portions of the State be otherwise provided for. Pennsylvania is known derisively among the other States as "the blind giant." Her immense wealth in resources and richness in all the elements of internal prosperity are recognized and acknowledged; but she has suffered her eyes to be closed and her limbs to be bound, and has contentedly taken her place as second in the rank of States, when she might have been first. The time has at last come for hoping that the scales are falling from her eyes, and that she will soon shake off the incubus of monopoly, that has so long weighed her down. The enactment of a Free Railroad Law will open up the whole State to enterprise and capital, and we shall then no longer be tortured with seeing, as we now daily do, business driven from our doors through the cupidity of railroad companies, which do not seek to oblige because they have no competition to fear.

I am aware that efforts have been made and are daily making to create a conviction in your minds that I am not sincerely a free Railroad man. Do not heed them. As an editor I have given the most earnest efforts of my life to create and build up the public sentiment on the railroad question that now so thoroughly prevails here; and after laboring so long and so earnestly to this end, it would be strange indeed if I could thus suddenly be metamorphosed into a Pennsylvania Railroad man, and be hunted down by the sentiment I have labored so hard to develop, as Acteon, when metamorphosed into a deer, was hunted to death by his own hounds. Fortunately, the political gods have not the power, however they may have the will, to work that metamorphosis in me. I stand now, where I have always stood, the firm, unchanging opponent of railroad monopoly and exaction, and the earnest friend of every measure that will promote the prosperity of the City, County and the State.

To return then, in conclusion, to national topics, let me urge upon every Republican here the imperative duty of activity and vigilance. The danger of the country, to which I have referred, is no fancied one, conjured up to alarm you, but a real one, that is already staring you in the face. The Amnesty Proclamation lately issued was undoubtedly intended to restore all the late rebels to power, to give them control of the Southern States, to enable them in turn to disfranchise the loyal men of those States, and to furnish him with a sufficient support in setting up a despotic government of his own. Shall he succeed? It is for you to say. Shall the men who fought us for four years to rend the Government in twain be allowed to obtain ascendancy and lord it over those who conquered them? What say you? There is but one way to prevent it—rally as one man to the ballot-box on the second Tuesday of October. That privilege is yet left to us. It is one that tyrants fear and it may not be left us long. Let us use it, and use it well, while we have it. If by Republican victories in October and November we can check this conspiracy until Congress meets, all will be well; but rest assured that nothing else will; and if we accomplish this, as we undoubtedly can, if we will, with the use of energy and vigilance, we can congratulate ourselves, with having averted from the country a peril as fearful as any she has ever yet encountered.

Major Errett was listened to with the strictest attention throughout, and was frequently interrupted by hearty applause.

SPEECH OF MR. PENNIMAN.

F. B. Penniman, Esq., was next introduced, and delivered an able and argumentative speech, reviewing the political situation in a clear and intelligible manner, and pointing out the dangers which now threaten the nation through the ripening conspiracy of Andrew Johnson and his bold coadjutors at Washington. The only hope for the nation—the only safety from the impending revolution—was a steadfast adherence to the principles of the Republican party, and an overwhelming rebuke of the President and his rebel allies at the ballot box.

REMARKS OF MR. TAYLOR.

J. W. Taylor, a young member of the bar, was next introduced, and spoke at some length, mainly in regard to the anomalous course pursued by the President. He favored an immediate impeachment of "his Accidency," and thought that the sooner the American people got rid of him the better. He paid a high compliment to the qualifications of Judge Williams, our candidate for Supreme Judge, and indorsed the county ticket as one of the best which had ever been nominated in "old Allegheny."

REMARKS OF MR. KEELER.

J. F. Keeler, Esq., next took the stand, and called upon all Republicans to give their hearty support to the State and County ticket at the Fall election. The enemies of the Republic in the South were still at work, and they were receiving the support and countenance of Northern Democrats. The loyal masses, however, who had met the enemy in front and at home were not disposed to give up the glorious results which had been acquired. The war of bayonets had ceased, and the war of ideas commenced, and he hoped it would be pushed forward vigorously. President Johnson had issued his amnesty proclamation, pardoning leading rebels, in order to give them an opportunity of combatting with the loyal men of the South at the coming Presidential election. He would, however, fail in his calculations. The Southern States were being organized, and when the proper time arrived they would each pour in a larger Republican vote than even the Keystone State itself. [Applause.] The speaker regretted that Andrew Johnson had not been impeached last winter, but the influences brought to bear against such action had proved overpowering. These influences would now be overcome, and Johnson, who would always hold on to an office as long as he could, would be removed early in the session of the next Congress, and his place filled by a man who could be trusted. The speaker congratulated the meeting upon the character of the men they had selected as their standard bearers, and closed with a feeling tribute to Hon. Henry W. Williams, candidate for the Supreme Bench.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Keeler's remarks, the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the Republican party, the county ticket and Old Ben Wade.

The Kinder-garden.

One of our most able and enterprising teachers, Miss P. W. Howells, has opened a school for quite young children, at No. 40 Liberty street, Allegheny. This school is conducted on the celebrated German plan known as the "kinder-garden," which is justly regarded by our most eminent educators as the most natural and successful method of primary training. By it, amusement and instruction are so happily blended together that to the pupil the exercises seem to be attractive play rather than onerous study. The course consists of a well arranged combination of object lessons, free gymnastics and vocal music. Should these schools be generally introduced, Shakespeare's "School-boy, with his satchel and shining morning face, creeping like a snail, unwillingly to school," will soon be a matter of history only. Such an institution deserves success. The advertisement will be found in another column. Call and see the school.

THE O'NEILL LIBEL CASES.

CONVICTION OF DANIEL O'NEILL.

The Indictment vs. Pittock Quashed.

Trial of the Case of Daniel O'Neill vs. James B. O'Neill and John W. Pittock.

At the opening of the Quarter Sessions, on Thursday morning, the jury in the case of James B. O'Neill vs. Daniel O'Neill, charged with publishing a malicious and defamatory libel, returned a verdict of guilty as indicted.

THE CASE AGAINST PITTOCK.

A jury was then empanneled to try the charge of libel preferred by D. O'Neill, of the Dispatch, against John W. Pittock, of the Leader. The alleged libel consisted in the publication of the petition of J. B. O'Neill for divorce from his wife, (on the ground that she had committed adultery with Daniel O'Neill,) with comments on the same.

Messrs. A. M. Brown, & Biddle Roberts, John M. Kirkpatrick and W. C. Moreland appeared for the prosecution, and Messrs. M. Swartzwelder, R. M. Gibson, (of Washington, Pa.,) and W. D. Moore, for the defense.

Mr. Gibson moved to quash the indictment on the ground that it contained no allegation that the offense charged therein had been committed within the jurisdiction of the court.

Maj. Brown then asked leave to have the indictment amended by adding the words, "at the county aforesaid and within the jurisdiction of this court."

This point was argued at some length by Messrs. Gibson and Swartzwelder in support of the motion to quash, and by Maj. Brown in favor of amending the indictment.

Judge Stowe overruled the motion to amend, and sustained the motion to quash. In doing so he quoted from his opinion delivered in the Kennedy case, where it is held that if the subject matter of the omission be so material as to justify an arrest of judgment after trial, it would not be subject to amendment before trial. The omission to lay the offense in Allegheny county would be sufficient to warrant an arrest of judgment after conviction, and hence upon this principle the indictment was quashed. [The indictment was drawn by private counsel.]

THE J. B. O'NEILL-PITTOCK CASE.

A jury was then empanneled in the case of Daniel O'Neill vs. James B. O'Neill and John W. Pittock. The basis of this charge was the publication of a card by James B. O'Neill, in answer to charges or allegations contained in the letter of Daniel O'Neill, written from New York on the 22d of April last. This card was published in the Leader, by Mr. Pittock, and J. B. O'Neill is charged with having written it, or caused it to be written, and procured its publication.

Major Brown opened the case to the jury, and read the indictment, with the alleged libelous matter.

The following testimony was elicited:

J. H. Miller, sworn—Know John W. Pittock; he was proprietor of the Leader in April last. (A copy of the paper, dated April 28th, 1867, was shown to the witness.) This paper is published for general distribution, and circulates largely in the city. [Libelous article pointed out to the witness.] I have seen the article before.

Mr. Swartzwelder asked whether the prosecution wished to offer the entire article, or only those extracts set forth in the indictment.

Mr. Roberts stated that the examination was merely preliminary, and they did not propose at this time to state what portions they would offer or whether they would offer the entire article.

That portion of the article contained in the indictment was then shown to witness, and he was asked to whom he understood the charges to refer.

Witness—I understand the charges to refer to Mr. D. O'Neill.

Cross-examined—The extracts read apart from the entire article, and without any reference to previous matters, could not be taken as referring to Mr. D. O'Neill, or any one else.

The defence then offered the whole article in evidence.

John Cannon, sworn—Purchased a copy of the Leader of the 28th of April, on the following day. The paper is published by Mr. Pittock. I understood the article to refer to Daniel O'Neill, and it was so understood by the public generally.

C. H. Smythe, sworn—Was employed by Mr. Pittock, in April last, in the store; he is publisher of the Leader; I sold copies of the Leader of the 28th of April; may have sold myself from twenty-five to seventy-five copies. The circulation that week was between three and four thousand. I read the article alleged to be libelous; it was in all the papers of that issue.

Cross-examined—I mean by saying that Mr. Pittock is the publisher of the Leader, that he owns it—he does not edit it.

T. P. Houstons, sworn—Read the article in the Leader, and understood it to refer to Mr. Daniel O'Neill.

James Mills, sworn—Was employed on the Leader in April last; read the article in question; James B. O'Neill did not furnish it for publication in the Leader. I have personal knowledge of that fact. I never saw the article in manuscript.

Major Brown then read the entire article from the Leader, entitled "The O'Neill-O'Neill Scandal," after which the prosecution rested their case.

Mr. Swartzwelder opened the case on behalf of Mr. Pittock, alleging that as far as Mr. J. B. O'Neill was concerned, no case had been made out, as it was not shown that he had either written or procured the publication of the alleged offensive article. In fact, it was in evidence that J. B. O'Neill had not procured its publication in the Leader. The defense would prove that Mr. Pittock was the publisher, but not the editor of the Leader; that the article in question had been published in nearly all the city papers before it appeared in the Leader, and that there was no malice on the part of Mr. Pittock in giving, as a matter of news, all the facts and circumstances in the case.

The following testimony was then elicited:

James Mills recalled—In April last was the writing editor of the Leader.

Mr. Swartzwelder—Do you know whether, prior to the publication in the Leader, similar publications had been made in the other papers?

Mr. Brown—We object.

Mr. Swartzwelder—We make the offer in order to rebut the presumption of malice.

Mr. Brown argued that the evidence was inadmissible.

Judge Stowe ruled that the objection was well taken, as the evidence would meet nothing proved by the Commonwealth.

Mr. Swartzwelder then proposed to ask the witness whether, as writing editor of the Leader, he had not refused to publish articles of an offensive and libelous character, on the same subject.

Objected to, and objection sustained.

Mr. Swartzwelder then asked the witness whether Mr. Pittock had ever seen the article in question, previous to its publication.

Objected to, and objection sustained.

Mr. Swartzwelder remarked that he could not see how they were to enter into a defense, if they were to be barred out in this way.

Judge Stowe answered that the defense was confined within a very narrow pen.

The witness was then dismissed from the stand.

Mr. Swartzwelder—Your Honor, having knocked our under-pinning away, we will have to stop here.

Judge Stowe—Go on to the jury, gentlemen.

W. D. Moore, Esq., on behalf of the defense, made the opening speech. He began by an allusion to the stringency of the law, under which the defense had been kept from developing what they deemed a just and equitable defense. Before he had proceeded far, Judge Stowe interrupted him and asked whether he meant to convey the impression that the jury were the judges of the law as well as the facts. Mr. Moore answered that he did not wish to be understood as making any such argument.

The speaker then continued, and argued that, if it appeared that the purpose was to give a fair statement of the case, on both sides, it would tend greatly to palliate, if not entirely justify the defendant. He then reviewed the New York letter of Daniel O'Neill, commented upon the heinous character of the charges made against J. B. O'Neill, and discussed the card of the latter, which was the offensive matter complained of here, purely in the light of a defense of his own character. He also cited the comments of the editor of the Leader, tending to show that the purpose was to give a fair and truthful statement of the case, and do equal and exact justice to both parties. In a word, he argued that the essence of the offense of libel entirely was wanting in this case.

Mr. Gibson followed Mr. Moore, and made a speech characteristic for mirth and humor rather than argument. He pictured the controversy as a bitter fight between two hot-blooded Irishmen, in which Mr. Pittock undertook to report, fairly and honestly, without malice, and without the slightest desire to injure or defame the reputation of Daniel O'Neill.

R. Biddle Roberts, Esq., concluded the argument on behalf of the Commonwealth. He criticised sharply the conduct of the opposite counsel for the manner in which they had presented the case to the jury, seeking to explain away or laugh off the force of the law and the evidence. When Mr. D. O'Neill was being tried for libel the day before, a different view was taken of the law. Mr. D. O'Neill had been convicted, and no jokes were indulged in. Now he asked that the same law be applied, with the same strictness in this case. He called the attention of the jury to one little paragraph, in the Leader article, which neither Mr. Moore nor Mr. Gibson had seen fit to read. It was to the effect that "Mr. James B. O'Neill had called upon the publisher of the Leader and requested the publication" of the card which contained the offensive matter—namely, "that Mr. Daniel O'Neill was a public libeller, and had been life-long engaged in the business of libelling his fellow men." Now, Mr. Mills, when he was called on the stand as a witness, he stated that J. B. O'Neill had not procured the publication of the card, so that the above mentioned statement of the publisher turned out to be a bald lie, and showed that the publisher had copied the offensive card voluntarily. Colonel Roberts declined to speak at length, believing that the case had been fully made out as against Pittock. As to J. B. O'Neill, he admitted that there was no evidence to warrant a conviction.

Judge Stowe then charged the jury very pointedly, and instructed them that if they believed the offensive matters laid in the indictment referred to Daniel O'Neill, and that Mr. Pittock published them, they would have to find a verdict of guilty. It was libelous to call a physician a "quack," a lawyer a "knave," or an editor a "common libeller." Such things tended to blacken a man's reputation, to injure him in his business, and to provoke a breach of the peace. To guard against these results the law was framed, and neither Court nor jury could set the law aside.

The jury retired at three o'clock, when the Court adjourned. We understand that the jury agreed at an early hour and sealed their verdict. It will be rendered at the opening of Court this morning.

Passing a Counterfeit Compound Interest Note.

Yesterday, a man named William Kunz was brought before United States Commissioner McCandless, on a charge of having passed a counterfeit compound interest note of the denomination of fifty dollars, on Emil Poerstel, tobacconist. The information sets forth that in April, 1866, the defendant passed to the prosecutor the note in question, knowing that it was counterfeit. Kunz, who is a manufacturer of glue, denied that he ever gave the note in question to Poerstel. Several witnesses were then examined, from which it appeared that Kunz, in the month stated, called at the store of Mr. Poerstel, and asked him to change the note. He examined it, and after getting Kunz to write his (Kunz's) name near the corner of it, took it and gave Kunz its equivalent in other money. Poerstel subsequently passed the note to a third party in part payment of a bill, which third party, being a laborer, gave it in trust to a friend to keep for him until it became due. The note fell due in July and was presented for payment at the bank in the Fifth ward. It was then discovered that the note was spurious, and it was traced back to Mr. Poerstel, who came upon Kunz to make it good. The latter declined to do so, although his name still appeared on the corner, and there seemed to be no doubt as to the identity of the note. His counsel, Mr. Moreland, contended that the fact of guilty knowledge had not been made out, and that the accused ought to be discharged. Commissioner McCandless stated that there was sufficient evidence to hold the defendant for trial, and fixed the bail at one thousand dollars. The bail was entered, and the case will come up for trial at the next term of the United States District Court.

In Bankruptcy.

In the Bankruptcy branch of the United States District Court, yesterday, in the case of Michael O'Hara, the return day of the rule on Sheriff Cluley, to shew cause why an attachment should not issue, was extended until Saturday next. The extension was made on account of the absence of Mr. Fetterman, counsel for O'Hara.

In the case of Gordon, McMillin & Co. vs. Stott & Allen, (Pine creek,) petition in involuntary bankruptcy, the respondents filed an answer denying the facts alleged in the petition, and demanding a trial by jury. The case was therefore ordered for trial by jury.

FRAUDULENT CATTLE TRANSACTION.—About three weeks since, a man residing at Adamsville, Crawford county, called upon a number of farmers residing in that locality, and by representing that he had made a contract with a heavy cattle dealer in this city, succeeded in obtaining cattle to the amount of five thousand dollars, giving his notes payable in fifty, twenty and thirty days. He started last week for the Allegheny Stock Yards, but before arriving there, sold the cattle to a man living nine miles from the city, since which time nothing has been heard of him. The holders of his paper are anxious to ascertain his whereabouts, as the notes, most of which are due, yet remain unpaid.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The beautiful comedy entitled "The Irish Heiress," with Miss Charlotte Thompson as "Norah O'Connor," was presented last evening to an appreciative audience, and to say that the performance gave entire satisfaction expresses but the truth. This evening Miss Thompson will take a benefit, when she will give an admirable impersonation of the haughty "Pauline," in Bulwer's "Lady of Lyons." Miss T. will also personate "Lady Elizabeth," in the comedietta of "The Day after the Wedding." This is a very attractive programme, and aside from the lady's admitted worth should crowd the Opera House this evening.

TREASURER OF THE OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Frank Conklin, has assumed the position of Treasurer of the new Opera House, made vacant by the resignation of Harry Overington, and will hereafter preside in the box office. Mr. Conklin is a gentleman well and favorably known in this community, and will prove an efficient and valuable adjunct to Manager Canning.

MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB.—This famous Boston troupe of vocalists, comprising William H. Schultze, Carl Meisel, Thomas Ryan, E. M. Heindl, Wolf Fries, assisted by Miss Addie S. Ryan, will visit Pittsburgh in a few weeks, and give two of their popular concerts.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—A quartette of Mr. F. J. Loudon's pupils, assisted by Miss L. J. Dery, will give a grand Vocal and Instrumental concert, at the Academy of Music on Friday evening next. The programme embraces fifteen excellent selections.

GRAND ORATORIO.—The rehearsals of Beethoven's grand oratorio, "Christ on Mount Oliver," guarantee a rich treat at the Academy of Music on the evening of the 26th inst., when it will be given in public.

Meeting of the Allegheny Councils.

The Allegheny City Councils held their regular semi-monthly meeting last evening, in their respective chambers.

REPORT OF THE WATER COMMITTEE.

THE WATER MAIN ON FREMONT STREET.

Mr. Hall moved that the action of the Water Committee in changing the location of the main from Tremont street, where it was originally ordered to be laid, to Fremont street, be sustained.

Mr. Hall said that the action of Councils in accepting the remonstrance of the citizens was merely intended as a rebuke to the committee for acting without authority, and he hoped the matter would now be considered on its merits.

Mr. J. C. Patterson said that it was too short a turn for him, he could not stand it.

Mr. Myler said he had not cast his vote as a rebuke to the committee, but as a duty to the citizens who had sent in the remonstrance.

Mr. Irwin said that he, as a member of the Street Committee, had favored the change, for the reason that it was a saving of at least $1,500 to the city.

Mr. Brown (Mr. Hall in the chair) said that he could see through the whole matter; that this was only the beginning of an end; that in less than ten years the Railroad Company would come into Councils and ask for the vacation of the street.

Mr. Thomas, Chairman of the Water Committee, said that the change had been suggested by Mr. Drum, and not by the Railroad Committee. No action.

Councils adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Members present: Messrs. Brahm, Cutler, Dunham, Drennan, Dill, Faulhaber, Hanna, Hora, Harper, Ingham, Kirkpatrick, Megraw, Means, McDonald, McNeill, Slagle, Smith, Reiter, Voegtly, Windsor and President Riddle.

The report was received and accepted.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Mr. Hanna moved that action on the report be further postponed. After a stormy discussion the resolution was lost by a vote of four yeas to twelve nays.

Mr. Smith then moved that the report of the committee be received and the resolutions contained therein adopted. The motion was adopted by a vote of twelve yeas to eight nays.

A communication from the City Controller, showing the expenses of the Fire Department of the city for the past year, which was laid over from a previous meeting, was also taken up for action. On motion, the communication was accepted.

SALE OF THE POOR FARM.

Mr. McNeill presented the report of the Committee on Poor Farm. The report states that pursuant to the action of Council, the Committee exposed to public sale, in lots, the grounds owned by the city and on which was erected the Poor Farm. The sales were very satisfactory to the Committee, the whole ground selling for the sum of ninety thousand two hundred and eighty-four dollars and five cents. Accompanying the report was the following resolution:

Resolved, That the action of the Directors of the Poor Farm, making sale of the lots in the plan of the Poor Farm as recited in the accompanying schedule, and advertising for proposals for the sale of a Farm to the city, be, and it is hereby approved, and that they be and are hereby authorized to make, execute and deliver to purchasers of lots in said plan, deeds of conveyance therefor.

The Committee also reported that the Directors had advertised for proposals for the sale to the city of a Farm of one or two hundred acres to be used as a Poor Farm, which before further action was taken was submitted to Councils.

After considerable discussion, on motion, the report was received and amended by striking out that portion relating to advertising for a new farm the words "from one to two hundred acres," and inserting "from thirty to two hundred acres." The report as amended was then adopted.

Mr. Slagle offered a resolution instructing the Poor House Committee to repair the insane departments of the poor house before winter sets in, in order to make it comfortable in cold weather. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

PAYMENT OF CITY EMPLOYEES.

Mr. Cutler offered a resolution that hereafter all persons in the employ of the city be paid twice a month, instead of once a month, as heretofore. Adopted.

On motion, Council adjourned.

Fire in Birmingham.

At an early hour yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the straw room of the glass manufactory of Messrs. Adams & Co., located on McKee street, above Carson, Birmingham. The firemen from Birmingham, Allegheny and this city were on the ground, but before aid could be rendered the flames had communicated to the main building, and the entire factory was destroyed. The buildings were of frame, and consisted of a glass house, packing, mixing and straw rooms. The glass house proper was one and a half story high and contained two furnaces. A frame dwelling house adjoining the straw room, occupied by an employee at the factory, was destroyed. A dwelling house on the opposite side of the street, occupied by Mrs. Catharine Swendler, was partially destroyed, and a row of frames adjoining were badly scorched. The loss of Messrs. Adams & Co., will amount to about fifteen thousand dollars, and is nearly fully insured in the Niagara, Manhattan, Citizens' and Continental Insurance Companies. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Are You Bilious?

Multitudes of both sexes will answer this question in the affirmative; for, next to disorders of the stomach, liver-complaints are perhaps the most prevalent of all internal diseases. Its usual symptoms are a yellowish tinge in the whites of the eyes, especially near the inner corners, an uneasy or slightly painful sensation in the right side, pain between the shoulder blades, sick headache, lassitude, mental dullness, lack of appetite, and irregularity of the bowels. Whoever recognizes this diagnosis as applying to his own condition, may be quite certain that more bile exists in his blood and less passes through his bowels than is expedient for his health, and that his liver requires toning and regulating. One of the special uses of is to meet just such exigencies as this. Its tonic principle rouses the liver from its torpor, and its aperient element gently relieves the intestinal canal of the accretions consequent upon an insufficient supply of nature's cathartic, the bile.

Persons of bilious habit will find it the best safeguard against the attacks to which they are constitutionally predisposed, and should carefully avoid all the ordinary alcoholic stimulants.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY EVENING, September 12, 1867.

The upward bound in the gold premium causes not a little surprise in financial circles. Various causes for this rise are put forward in the money columns of the Eastern dailies. It is said that there is an apprehension among some of the New York importers that the payment of the funded public debt will be in currency and not in gold coin. The importance which is attached to the discussions on the political stump in Ohio, on the matter of repudiation and the national debt, shows how nervous capitalists are in the East upon this subject. Of course the speculators are making the most of this prevalent feeling of distrust, and it must be confessed are working with no little success. No sensible man of business, however, need be told that the payment of the principal in coin is as certain as the payment of the half-yearly interest in coin; both are secured by the customs revenue, made payable exclusively in coin, and both, beyond this pledge, rest securely upon the public faith of the people of the United States, which has never been violated on this vital subject, and never will be.

The Philadelphia Ledger remarks that the cause of this advance and firmness in gold has not yet been satisfactorily determined in the public mind. It has been intimated that financial troubles, at no distant day, may be experienced, and with a depreciation of the currency there may be an apparent advance in gold. To meet such a contingency, it is said, there are buyers to meet a future demand for customs purposes. To our view, there is nothing in this. In the first place there is no evidence of a financial crisis, and were one probable in the distant future, there are few who would think of meeting it by the purchase of gold thus far in advance. The political complications at Washington, in connection with the unexpected result of the elections of some of the States, which seem not to sustain the more ultra action of Congress, rendering the parties competing for the control of the Government more nearly equal than they have hitherto been, is a more probable cause. There is awakening, in the minds of the timid, apprehensions of excited and angry differences when Congress shall assemble, thus upsetting confidence in the present. There is, it is true, a bad state of feeling with leading partisans on both sides, which a little amor patria, not to say Christian forbearance, might allay, and we have hope yet will come around in time, as always in the past, to save the public credit and the country. Our institutions must be impregnable against the madness of party spirit. Having proved strong enough to resist open rebellion there ought to exist no just apprehension of serious consequences from a financial or political crisis, arising from the schemes of selfish or designing politicians. The market yesterday was marked with less excitement, though the premium on gold was firm, and the rates of silver unchanged.

The Tribune thinks that the steady advance in gold calls for prompt action by the Secretary of the Treasury, who has it in his power to check this evil and at the same time promote the interests of the government and the solvent part of the people. This remedy will be found in the sale of 5-20 bonds, as long as they will command par and accrued interest, and hoarding the currency obtained for them. By this process he can speedily produce at all points a money market stringent enough to drive all speculators upon margins to gold or commodities out of the field. He can at the same time procure the money with which the compound notes can be paid as they mature, and the 7-30's taken up.

—Government bonds are in sympathy with the rise in gold, and the old 5-20s touch to-day 115—the other series are up too, and a strong market is reported. We present below the report to Messrs. McVay & Co.:

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, FRIDAY, September 13, 1867.

BUSINESS—Since our last was dull, exhibiting a material contrast from the movements of the previous day. The refined sales on Wednesday were 11,500 barrels and on Thursday 5,000 barrels. We have seldom noticed buyers less disposed to operate. The only operations in crude were resales, if we except 250 bbls sold to arrive. At Oil City the market was reported dull, with sales at $3 75 ⅌ bbl—a very material decline. Private dispatches quote crude in Philadelphia at 17½c, including packages, and in New York at 18c. In this market buyers were careless about operating and the principal topic of conversation was in regard to the daily amount of oil produced in the Allegheny Oil Regions, and there was a wide difference of opinion. Both sides, no doubt, believe they were correct. The sales were as follows: 5,000 bbls bulk, a resale of contract for all 1867, B. O., at 13c, the difference paid in cash; 2,000 bbls do, a resale at 13c, for all 1867, B. O., at 12c, difference paid in cash; sales 250 bbls to arrive, delivered, at 13c.

REFINED OIL.—The market was dull and devoid of activity, as dealers appeared to have made up their minds not to operate, and the result was we have but a single transaction to report of 500 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, October delivery, at 33c. Private dispatches yesterday report the rates in Philadelphia—Regular 32c; standard white 32c. In New York regular 31c, and standard white 32c ⅌ gal.

Later.—Since the above was written we have been furnished with the following sales, all for next year's delivery, viz: 1,500 bbls S. W., Philadelphia, B. O. July, 1868, at 29c ⅌ gal; 3,000 bbls do, August, 1868, B. O. at 32c ⅌ gal.

NEW YORK.

Crude, according to the Commercial List, of Wednesday, has been in good request, at about previous quotations. The sales are 2,300 bbls, bulk, on the spot, 46@47 gravity, at 15@15½c, (chiefly 15½); 8,000 do for September, 15½@16c; 2,000 do first half of October, 15½@16c, and 2,000 all October, 16c, all sellers' option. Refined is depressed on account of the large decline reported in Antwerp, but the sales in Philadelphia have been large since our last, and the price has fallen there to 31c—in this market, 31½@32c was a fair quotation at the close, being a decline of 1@1½c since Friday—and buyers ask a further concession. The sales are 2,600 bbls Standard White, in bond, at 32@33c, 4,650 do, for all the month, 32@34½c, buyers' option, closing at 32@32½c; 4,500 do October, 34@35c, buyers' option, and 40,000 gallons, on the spot, in tin, 32@40c. Free has been neglected.

Oil City Oil Market.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

OIL CITY, September 12, 1867.

The market for crude was very dull and depressed. Sales to-day, delivered at Oil City, at $3 75. There is but little inquiry.

Hops.

The New York Commercial List says the market remains very firm for all grades, but business is limited, as the receipts are very small, and consist mainly of undesirable quality. Prices in the country are relatively higher than here, 60@65c being paid at the hop-yards; and while this discrepancy continues, there is likely to be no accumulation of stock. In Wisconsin the entire crop is pretty well bought up by consumers and dealers. Our quotations are unchanged.

PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, September 12, 1867.

CATTLE—The market since our last has undergone no very material change. The sales as compared with the week ending the 5th, show a falling off amounting to 445 head. The rates were various—ranging from $3 25@8 65 ⅌ hundred—the former figures being generally paid for bulls and the latter for good fat cattle. The bulk of sales ranged from $4 50 @7 00 ⅌ cwt. The operations for the past three weeks were as follows:

August 29	1,683	$3 00@8 00
Sept. 5	2,156	4 25@8 25
Sept. 12	1,711	3 25@8 65

SHEEP—The market was poorly supplied. The demand, however, was restricted and the rates of inferior descriptions were down as low as $1 00 ⅌ head, whilst good fat mutton was disposed of at a slight advance over last week's prices. The operations for the past three weeks were:

August 29	6,880	$2 50@4 00
Sept. 5	8,115	1 25@4 62
Sept. 12	4,967	1 00@4 75

Being a falling off in sales during the week of 1,158 head.

HOGS—The market was well supplied, with a fair shipping inquiry. As usual the largest demand being for those suitable for shipping, as the principal operations were on Eastern account. The highest figures reached being $7 80 ⅌ cwt., and the lowest $5 60 ⅌ cwt. The operations for the last three weeks were as follows:

August 29	6,081	$5 25@7 50
September 5	6,718	4 50@7 80
September 12	6,298	5 60@7 80

The week's sales show a falling off as compared with last week of 420 head.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, September 12, 1867.

CATTLE—The market since our last was well supplied, the number being variously estimated from eleven to twelve hundred head. The increased supply caused holders to hold back for lower figures. Toward the close dealers manifested more disposition to operate. The rates were above those of the previous week. As usual, good cattle found ready purchasers at current prices, the week's advance being from 40 to 50c ⅌ cwt. Common and inferior were dull of sale and difficult to dispose of unless at a decline. Most of the choice lots sold readily to butchers. The larger portion of the sales were at prices ranging from $7 25@7 75@8 00, and one lot of very choice sold at $8 25. Stock cattle were neglected; this, however, is nothing unusual for the season. The rates were $3 75@5 75 ⅌ cwt, according to the fancy of the purchaser. Eastern buyers did not put in an appearance. The sales and prices for the past three weeks were as follows:

August 29	488	$2 50@8 00
September 5	591	2 75@7 75
September 12	878	3 00@8 25

Of the above sales we have the prices for 682 head, whilst 196 head were sold on private terms.

HOGS—The market has undergone no particular change; the operations were in a retail way for butchering purposes. The sales and figures for the past two weeks were as follows:

September 5	580	$6 50@7 50
September 12	100	7 00@7 50

SHEEP AND LAMBS—The market was largely supplied; the number on sale being estimated at 2,700@3,000 head, being far in excess of the demand—producing a dull market, with a large number remaining unsold; they will, no doubt, be driven to the Central Yards. The rates were for the best fat mutton sheep $4 50@5 00 ⅌ head; inferior sold down to $1 00, 1 50@2 00 ⅌ head. Lambs were in good supply with liberal transactions at $1 00@3 50 ⅌ head.

Smith & Tomage sold to Irwin & Co, 600 head sheep at $3 15 ⅌ head.

Smith & Tomage sold to Hall & Myers 182 head sheep at $1 05 ⅌ head.

TRANSACTIONS IN CATTLE PER CWT. AND HEAD.

Haas & Kraus sold in various lots 120 head, prices ranging from $5 00@7 50 ⅌ cwt.

Rotchilds & Byers sold 48 head, a mixed lot, prices ranged as follows, $6 50@6 50 ⅌ cwt.

M. Verner sold 62 head at $6 00@7 00 ⅌ cwt.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY EVENING, September 12, 1867.

Trade to-day was very moderate in nearly all branches of business. Flour was more active at our last quotations. Provisions are unchanged, but prices have an upward tendency. There was very little doing in grain.

The receipts of some of the leading articles of produce, per river and rail, since our last were as follows: Flour 465 bbls; apples 902 bbls; cheese 123 boxes; corn 220 sacks; wheat 1,669 sacks; barley 2,120 sacks; rye 230 sacks; and oats 360 sacks.

We quote as follows which are the wholesale store prices unless otherwise noted:

PEACHES—We note sales of 375 boxes at $2 25@2 50 ⅌ box.

HAY—Market unchanged. We note sales of 17 loads from country wagons, at $15@19 ⅌ ton.

BARLEY—Sales were made at prices ranging from $1 15@1 25 ⅌ bush. We hear of a sale of 6 cars, F. O. B., on private terms, but generally understood to be $1 25 ⅌ bush—a higher figure than heretofore quoted. We also hear of a sale of 4,000 bush prime spring at $1 15 ⅌ bush.

CORN—Stock very light, and transactions small. Sales of prime yellow shelled, from Elevator, reported at $1 15 ⅌ bushel.

RYE—We quote rye at $1 20 ⅌ bushel.

WHEAT—The market continues very dull, as there appears to be no dealers in the market excepting millers, and they are not disposed to purchase any more than actually requisite to meet their wants. Receipts, however, are very light, and we quote red winter wheat ranging from $2 10@2 20 ⅌ bushel.

FLOUR—The market was more active and prices firm at our quotations. The receipts are light. Should the last Western advance be sustained, higher prices must be looked for here. Prices are $10 25 for spring; and $11 25 for winter. Some dealers are asking 25c higher than these figures.

Wheat in New York.

From the Price Current of Wednesday we learn that the buoyancy of the wheat market at the date of our last has been succeeded by an advance of fully 10c, mainly on red and amber, based upon reduced estimates of the crop, the disposition of western farmers and others to hold for higher prices, together with a decided improvement in the flour market. Millers have operated much more freely than for some weeks preceding, and small quantities have been taken for export, including a little invoice for France, which has had the effect to strengthen the confidence of holders. Spring wheat is beginning to come forward in moderate quantities, and when there shall be an accumulation of this description we may witness an increased export trade, for the reason that it is considerably cheaper than winter, while the question is now reduced to a certainty that France, some parts of Germany and Portugal, as well as England, will be necessitated to import freely to make good their food deficiencies. The volume of exports from the Atlantic slope of the United States, however, will depend largely upon the ruling of prices, for if these are carried above the natural level, through speculative combinations, aided by a superabundance of currency, Russia, with her abundant surplus, and possibly other countries, will most assuredly profit by European deficiencies. The sales are 232,000 bush at $2 10@2 12½ for new No 3 Chicago, part to arrive; $2 16 for No. 2 do; $2 50@2 55 for white Genesee; $2 50@2 55 for ordinary to choice white Michigan; $2 40 for amber; $2 40 for new red winter Indiana; $2 35@2 48 for amber State; $2 38@2 40 for amber Southern; $2 33@2 35 for red winter Illinois; $2 42 for white Southern, and $2 50@2 65 for ordinary to prime white California.

New York Iron Market.

The market for Scotch pig is less active, but, with the advance in gold, prices are rather higher. We notice sales of 400@500 tons, ex-ship, including 125 tons Eglington and Langloan at $42, and 100 do Gartsherrie $42 75—for the latter $43 was afterwards refused; small lots from yard, $44@45; and 300 tons Eglinton, $42 50@43 50. Of American we notice a few hundred tons No. 1 Allentown, &c., at $44@45; 400 do Trenton at $35 for Gray Forge at furnace; the same price for mottled and white at Elizabethport, and 250 do Lehigh white on private terms. We notice besides, 300 tons old English rails, to arrive, on terms not made public, and 900 do old rails, here, at $44 00, cash. From store, bar continues quiet but firm at our quotations.

RIVER TELECRAMS.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 12.—The river is falling, with two feet eight inches in the canal.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, September 12.—The river is still falling.

RIVER NEWS.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—Trade was dull, in fact beyond repairing boats and building new ones, there was nothing done below the Suspension Bridge. Above the bridge the low water packets are making regular trips to Lock No. Three. A resumption of navigation is anxiously waited for by the inhabitants along the Monongahela Valley. The packets will hardly be able to resume operations before the latter part of the month.

CAPT. A. C. MCCARTY has arrived in Cincinnati.

THE steamer R. C. Gray, Capt. Anderson, arrived at Memphis on the 7th.

LOW WATER.—Wabash river is lower now than it has been for twenty-five years.

COLORS AT HALF MAST.—The flags of the various steamers at the wharf were displayed at half mast, as a tribute to the memory of the late Captain James W. Rowland.

CHANGE OF BASE.—The steamer Pilgrim has abandoned the Illinois river trade, and will go to Memphis to enter the trade between that city and Arkansas river.

FROM St. Louis to Cairo there is but eight feet of water in the channel. To Keokuk but five feet and thirty-three inches on the lower rapids, and falling at the rate of four inches per day.

WEDNESDAY'S Cincinnati Enquirer says: The Camelia broke her doctor-beam coming down yesterday morning, and was compelled to lay over one trip to repair. The Messenger left in her place last evening.

STEAMERS are having trouble with the locked safety valve; it is said they blow off at about half the amount of steam they are set for. The Tom Jasper, on a recent trip to St. Louis, broke open her valve.

RIVER MAIL CONTRACT.—Dispatches from Washington announce the lettings of the river mail route between Memphis and Vicksburg twice a week to Mr. Elliott, of Memphis. This necessitates a line of packets between the two points. The contract dates from the 1st of October.

THE Dubuque papers mention business as improving and trouble from low water on the increase. At the boatman's meeting, yesterday, it was agreed that barge rates shall be under steamboat rates five cents per barrel, two cents per 100, and two cents per sack. The steamboat rate was lowered accordingly.

THE Cairo correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says in reference to the steamer R. E. Lee: The steam levers are pushing the Lee into the river at the rate of eight feet per day. One day more sets her afloat unless the river falls too fast. The river has fallen ten inches since the accident. Those inches would have floated her to-night. She is not hurt in the least.

IN noticing the death of Captain Roland the St Louis Democrat has the following: We may add that he was mate on the old steamer Missouri, in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade, and was considered, at that time, the best mate in the trade. However that may be, the fact will not be denied that throughout his career, he was an honorable, upright man, agreeable in his bearing, obliging, humane, and liked by all. We never heard his name mentioned but with respect.

LOUISVILLE—The new tow-boat Peyton is now lying at the city wharf where she will be finished. The machinery of the defunct steamer John T. McCombs is to be placed on her. The machinery is no doubt good for its age; it was originally built for a steamer named Chevoit; after being used on that boat for many years it was transferred to the steamer J. T. McCombs, that boat being worn out. The machinery will be placed as above stated.

ST. LOUIS, September 10.—At the boatmen's meeting yesterday, it was agreed that the barge rates should be under steamboat rates five cents per barrel, two cents per hundred and two cents per sack. The steamboat rate was lowered accordingly. Heavy rain yesterday, but the rivers are still declining, with only twenty-eight inches on the lower rapids. Business is improved along the Upper Mississippi. The Pilgrim has withdrawn from the Naples trade, and is leading for the Arkansas. The Ida goes to St. Paul.
